C. D. O'BRIEN ON THE CRONIN CASE.

The Cronin mystery and the Cronin trial, so called, in Chicago bid fair to supply the country with humorous literature for some time to come, although the humor of the situation is somewhat peculiar and rather grim. Nowhere else on the face of the globe could the machinery of justice be employed for the production of such a farce-tragedy. So far as is discoverable from what has been published there exists no basis worthy of consideration for the prosecution that is being waged against several men who are charged with complicity in the death of Dr. Cronin; and apparently everything, even to the innermost thoughts and most trivial speculations of the prosecuting officers, has been published. The matter has assumed such voluminous proportions that it has become practically impossible for the ordinary newspaper reader to keep in mind the salient points, which have been from time to time evolved from the fertile brains of the assiduous gentlemen who are conducting the prosecution, and the more fertile brains of the Chicago newspaper reporters.

The essential absurdity and gaudiness of the whole fabric of nothingness upon which this celebrated case rests is most admirably and keenly summarized in The St. Paul Sunday Pioneer Press by Hon. C. D. O'Brien, ex-mayor of that city and one of the leading lawyers in the Northwest. He claims that it cannot be proved that Dr. Cronin is dead, or that it was his body found in the sewer manhole, or that the man found in the sewer was murdered; and he cites plenty of evidence to support these claims. He enters into the whole question with a thoroughness that betrays his familiarity with it, and he argues with the clearness and precision of the accomplished lawyer he is. He cites a great array of suspicious circumstances that cluster about the Cronin case, which make strong presumptive case against the prosecution, and he argues with considerable skill that the whole affair is a conspiracy to bring discredit upon the Irish people in America. He sums up with two prophecies: "First, that Dr. Cronin is not dead, was not assassinated; and secondly, that the trial of the defendants in Chicago, if proceeded with in a court of justice, will demonstrate the fact that there is not the shadow of evidence against them sufficient to sustain the accusation that has been made."

Bear in mind that tomorrow is the last day for registering to vote on the park question. Every qualified voter whose name is not on the registration list should see that it is put on tomorrow without fail. In another column we re-print the list of registering places, stating plainly where to go in every ward.

The election of the colored student, Clement Garrett Morgan, as class orator by the senior class at Harvard shows again how the foremost university foundation in the East has risen above unreasoning race prejudice. Mr. Morgan will honor the choice, for in oratorical ability he is said to be easily first in his class, and to excel even Richard Greener, the student of his race, also pre-eminently distinguished for the same gift in the same university.

One good fruit of the international squabble in Bering sea, which the common school geographies have persistently misinterpreted until recently, is the timely appearance of a translation of Lauridsen's biography of the great explorer, Vitus Bering. For English readers Professor Olson of the University of Wisconsin has here reproduced a vivid account of the extraordinary ventures of the brave Dane who crossed Siberia with infinite hardships to find the dividing line between Asia and America and extend the dominion of Russia across the strait that bears his name. The signal enterprise that marked the reign of Peter the Great, the starting of the great explorations of Bering is one well worthy remembrance.

Unscrupulous body snatching for dissecting rooms is bad enough, but when it comes to violating the graves of the most honored dead for sheer plunder and extortion, no pains should be spared to trap and punish the prowling ghoul. The successful stealing of the body of the millionaire Stewart was followed almost immediately by the breaking into the tomb of Lincoln, and if the martyr president was not secure from outrage after death, no grave in the country is beyond the danger of desecration. The recent disturbance of the grave of Ralph Waldo Emerson, which the most impetuous knave should have shrunk from profaning, has led to the precaution of enclosing the remains in a heavy stone underground tomb. It is high time to teach ruffians who have no regard for the living nor respect for the dead to fear the law.

The speakership of the next house lies between Reed and McKinley, either of whom would honor the choice. Mr. Reed has the unanimous support of New England and a large following in the South and West. It is understood that the New York republican delegation is practically a unit for him and that he can count also on the support of Pennsylvania. Mr. McKinley will also command and deserve strong support, but the prevailing sentiment, after the complimentary vote has been disposed of, will probably be in favor of placing Reed in the chair, in which case McKinley would unquestionably be looked to as the republican leader in the house, and take the chairmanship of the committee on appropriations. In accordance with the usual precedent, Reed would naturally succeed to the speakership, and this consideration will weigh strongly in his favor now.

The selection of Gen. Raum as commissioner of pensions is an eminently strong one. Of all who have been mentioned for the place, no one is so distinctively qualified by temper, training and judgment as the commissioner of internal revenue under the Hayes, Garfield and Arthur administrations. His sterling integrity and executive ability were so conspicuous that his service was extended from administration to administration without question of change. Prompt, methodical, constant at his post, swift in the dispatch of business, Commissioner Raum practically reached the ideal standard of efficiency, as was acknowledged without dissent. Through the war, unwavering in duty and of distinguished gallantry, Comrade Raum won the confidence and regard of all who served with him, and the Grand Army of the Republic will emphatically ratify the choice of the President. The country, of which he has deserved so well, will justly hail his nomination as signally discreet and fortunate. A true soldier, an expert official, a sound lawyer, and a thorough business man are united in his person, surely a capital combination for the post to which he has been called.

HISTORY OF UTAH.

To write a thoroughly reliable and unbiased history of Utah is not a task that could be undertaken by a literary dilettante, nor could it have any attraction for the historian who depends upon his industry in delving among the archives of a past age and his facility for assimilating the mass of material at his hand. There could only be attraction in such a task to a historian with great courage, greater skill and with the greatest resources at his command. Very much has been written about Utah, it is true, but the vast bulk of it all has been written by fanatics on one side or the other—fanatics bound to prove that the Mormons are cut-throats and murderers, or that they are and have been persecuted saints. There has undoubtedly been constant effort to prejudice the public against them—justly or unjustly. What of truth there is in what is written against them cannot well be judged, nor what of truth they and their partisans have set up in defense and justification. Therefore it will be seen that Mr. Hubert Howe Bancroft undertook a task that was at once exceedingly difficult and certain to be misunderstood and discredited when he determined to add to his great undertaking of writing a series of volumes upon the history of the Pacific Slope one upon Utah. He realized all the difficulties of the way, and the probability that his work would be misunderstood and to a degree discredited. But he did not allow that knowledge to turn him from his purpose. He frankly admits the difficulties and adopts as his rule of conduct that he will only undertake to satisfy himself, employing what power he has to follow a course of discrimination and equity, and in pursuing the bulky and handsome volume the reader is constantly reminded of this mainly passive and forced stand and the equitable standpoint Mr. Bancroft has unflinchingly and honestly maintained. The book has a peculiar interest, not usually attaching to history, for it is history, sure enough, but what the severe critic would lose as classing as true history merely as a matter of form or courtesy. It approaches so near to the relation of contemporaneous events that, even if the author did not labor under the difficulties he points out and we have alluded to, it might well be considered that no man of this century is capable of dealing with the events here dealt with in a historical spirit. The record of a time or a state must go through the filter of generations before it can become history. In a universal sense, it is entirely probable that the stirring record of the Mormons in Utah will scarcely be worthy of passing notice when the history of the human race in the present era comes to be written. But such a view of this book is but a play upon terms. Its subject is intensely interesting now, and the more so that even as this note of it is read, the last act in the dual and complete overthrow of the temporal power of the Mormons is impending. With the election in that territory this month it is entirely probable that the hold of the Mormons upon political control will be altogether cast off. So this book is peculiarly opportune. It is intensely interesting. Nowhere do we remember having read so clear an exposition of Mormonism, and nowhere is the real difficulty between Mormons and "Gentiles" so clearly delineated. It is perhaps foreign to the intent of a review that a single phrase of a book be singled out for special illustration, but in the course of the unity of estimate due to it, but it is perhaps possible to hint at what we are unable to elaborate by an excerpt or two, by analyzing the Mormon religion, Mr. Bancroft says:

The theory of government of this republic is numerical equality, each man and each hundred men being equal to every other man or every other hundred men as industrial and political factors. In this case, however, it is not so, and it never can be so. Spiritual manifestations are not equal, and there is nothing to do with it. A hundred or a thousand Mormons are not equal to one Gentile, and the Gentiles are not equal to one Mormon. And until the principles of the United States republic are changed, and the Mormons and Gentiles cannot live together in peace and amity. It is folly for Gentiles to enter a Mormon community and think to rule or have any part in the government as at present existing, and following the line of law and order.

The truth and justice of this can scarcely be questioned, although issue were to be taken with the historian when he declares, as he does, that "the issue between polygamy and monogamy is one purely for civilization to determine; Christianity has not a foot of ground to stand upon in the matter." With one paragraph reproduced to show the real Mormon view of plural marriage this too long but yet inadequate notice of a most interesting and valuable work must close:

Celestial marriage and the plural-wife system, as incorporated parts of the Mormon religion, are essential to the fullness of exaltation in the eternal world. The space awarded to it declares, is inhabited by spirits, thousands of years old, awaiting tabernacles in the flesh, which can be legitimately furnished them only by marriage and procreation; and bodies cannot be obtained for these spirits except by the will and story of God that they have bodies as speedily as possible, that they become saints on earth and his kingdom, those who keep this commandment thus to exalt being as gods, otherwise their spirits will take refuge in the bodies of unbelievers, and so sink to perdition. (History of Utah by Hubert Howe Bancroft, San Francisco; The History Company.)

Literary Notes.

The thirty-fourth edition of Max O'Rell's "Jonathan and His Continent," is on the press. Professor Robertson Smith's lectures on the religion of the Semites delivered in Aberdeen last year are to be published by A. & C. Black. M. Homan is at work on the fourth volume of his "History of Israel." He is also correcting the proof-sheets of a new book to be entitled "The Future of Science." Margaret Deland's forthcoming book, "Flora Days," is to be enriched by four colored plates, two engravings, six of full-page plates, and fifty other illustrations from sketches made especially for the work by L. K. Harlow.

The "Life, Letters and Journal" of Louisa Alcott, just published by Roberts Bros., is said to be already a success, the first edition of 5000 not satisfying the demand. A good deal of matter not to be found in any edition, British or American, of De Quincey's works will be included in the forthcoming volume of "Uncollected Writings of Thomas De Quincey."

Some of the most notable novels of the day are from the pens of Southern writers, and still they come. The last to add its name to the list is Will N. Harben. Last July a story published in The Youth's Companion croaked hundreds of letters from all parts of the United States, some taking one view and others another of the argument, but all showing an intense interest in the tale. This story Mr. Harben has made the foundation of his novel, "White Marie," which has been secured for publication by Messrs. Cassell & Co.

ABOUT NOTED PEOPLE.

Sansuke Hayashi, general superintendent of police in Japan, is at present visiting the various capitals of Europe. The Emperor of Russia has ordered the well-known Russian artist, Prof. Bogynoff to paint a picture after the style of Salomon, representing the entrance of Emperor William into the harbor of Kronstadt.

The city of Livorno, Italy, is at present excited over the disappearance of the Duchess of d'Aurel, a member of one of the most aristocratic houses in the kingdom, who has left Italy to the amount of $200,000 behind her.

Senator Quay's new home at Washington is the house which the Hon. John A. J. Creswell of Maryland, formerly post-master-general, and now president of the Citizens National bank and candidate for the vacancy on the supreme bench, built for himself, and which the millionaire lumberman, Senator Philatus Sawyer of Wisconsin, occupied until his beautiful new home on Connecticut avenue was built.

THE CRY OF THE DREAMER.

(John Boyle O'Reilly.)
I am tired of planning and toiling
In the crowded hives of men;
Heart weaned of building and building again,
And I long for the dewy south away;
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a fuller life is in a day.

I am sick of the showy seeming
Of a life that is half a lie;
I would be honest and schooling,
In the throng that hurries by;
From the sleepers I would draw the veil,
I would see where the children play;
For a dreamer lives forever,
And a fuller life is in a day.

I feel no pride, but play
For the burdens the rich endure;
There is no rest in the city
But the patient lives of the poor.
Oh, the heart's heart that bleeds,
And the child mind choked with weeds,
The daughter's heart grows bleeds.

No, not from the streets rude bustle,
From trophies of mart and stage,
I would live to the world's lowliest,
And the meadow's kindly pace.
Let me live in the heart of the true,
And be loved for the dreamer's sake,
For the dreamer lives forever,
And the fuller life is in a day.

THIS WEEK'S CONVENTION.

Arrangements Nearly Completed—Tonight's Lecture on the Atlantic Campaign.

The various Y. M. C. A. committees having in charge the coming state convention, at which 400 or 500 delegates are expected to visit Duluth, have nearly completed their work. The entertainment committee is not "out of the woods" in providing places for the visitors, and needs considerable more help. Announcements of the intended coming of delegations are received daily.

Tonight's lecture on "The Atlantic Campaign" at Y. M. C. A. hall, by J. P. Downey, professor of mathematics and astronomy at the state university, will be an interesting event. Of the lecture the Pioneer Press of March 8 said: "The professor was himself a participant in the events which he narrated, which fact added interest and vividness to his graphic account of the campaign. He traced the general outline of events, and filled in the narrative with many incidents, illustrating both the amusing and the terrible phases of war. His manner was animated and pleasing, and the matter of the lecture unusually interesting."

THE ORE TRADE.

Lake Freight Advances Curtail Shipments of Ore—The Market.

In its weekly review of the iron ore trade The Cleveland Iron Trade Review says: "The varying and unsettled condition of the freight market, even at this late date, is liable to make itself severely felt in the sum total of ore to come to before the close of the season. The ore men claim that by a combination, aided by a boom in the daily newspaper, lake freight has taken a sudden jump that is not justified by the conditions of trade, and that this advance, while possibly benefiting a few vessel owners, will eventually shut off their sources of revenue. Rates are $1.50 from the head of Lake Superior, $1.50 to $1.80 from Marquette and $2.00 from Escanaba. Most of the ore men claim that the other hand of the market would contract for low rates, but are not doing so, and their orders, not caring to buy ore simply to add to the vessel owner's profits. If freight should continue to advance, no ore will be shipped in excess of contract orders, and the vessel men will have themselves to blame for the falling off."

TO CHANGE THE LEAGUE.

Eastern Cities and Duluth Will Change the Western League.

A Very Strong League Assured—Notes of General Sports.

The annual meeting of the Western Baseball association will probably be held Nov. 1. The delay has been caused by a desire to await action taken at the National league and American association meetings. It is not yet decided whether the Western league meeting will be held at Omaha or Minneapolis.

There is a chance of having the association greatly strengthened next season. It is now known that Detroit has applied for admission, and Toledo and Oshkosh are anxious to get in. An Oshkosh man had several consultations with Secretary Norton about the prospects of a circuit being formed that will give Oshkosh a chance for admission.

In that event, Omaha, Sioux City, Denver, St. Joe, Lincoln and Des Moines will probably unite with two other associate cities and form a Southwestern association. It would be money in the pockets of all the club managers in the cities named to have a division made in this way, and if the Brotherhood had not got in its deadly work, there is every chance that the scheme thus outlined will be carried out in 1890.

It is entirely probable that Duluth will go in, for as far as the money is concerned there is no difficulty; $8500 must be raised and no canvas has yet been made; a thorough canvas among friends of the game will easily raise the amount. The one question of a salary limit, which Duluth will urge on the consideration of the league, may make a little trouble.

Sports Notes.

Over 16,000 people crowded the Brooklyn ball grounds Saturday to see the second championship game between the New York and Brooklyn ball teams, and 16,000 throats yelled themselves hoarse when the scores were tied in the second inning. After that New York had every thing its own way, and at the end the score stood 6 to 2. Both teams have now won one game each.

Other games were:
At Cleveland—Cleveland, 4; Cincinnati, 1.
At Columbus—Columbus, 6; Indianapolis, 7.
At Philadelphia—Philadelphia, 2; Athletics, 2.

At the meeting this week Saturday it will be decided whether Duluth enters the Western Baseball association next season. Everyone interested in putting a team in the field, a club capable of doing good work for the benefit of the city, should attend. The place of meeting will be announced by The Herald tomorrow evening.

ELEGANT TEMPLE OPERA

The Handsome Playhouse Duluth is to Dedicate This Evening.

The Play, the Star, the House And the People to be There.

This evening one of the most brilliant audiences ever assembled in Duluth will greet Rose Coghlan at the new and beautiful Temple opera, and it is entirely safe to say that the audience will be delighted with the theater. It is not it will be lacking in discriminating taste, for it will assuredly find itself in one of the most artistic, convenient and pleasing playhouses in the West. Miss Coghlan will draw special inspiration from the beautiful and harmonious auditorium which will present itself to her eye—to say nothing of an enthusiastic Duluth audience, which has been deprived of amusements since the old opera house burned last winter. The house has been described fully in The Herald, and this week all Duluth will see it for itself. And a very pleasing sight it will be with its artistic decorations and arrangement, its plush-covered chairs, its handsome hangings, its thousands of electric lights.

A local audience will not alone enjoy Rose Coghlan's acting this evening, for St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Chicago and other cities will send representatives to assist in making the first night of play in Temple Opera an occasion to remember. From the Western metropolis is expected Mr. M. B. Leavitt, the well-known manager, from Milwaukee, Mr. Jake Litt, a theatrical authority whose reputation extends throughout the West, will be here. Mr. J. P. Conklin, St. Paul's best known manager, proprietor of "The Grand," Mr. Sam Friedlander, of Harris' Minneapolis theater; Mr. L. N. Harris, manager of the St. Paul Newmarket; Mr. George Alf Williams, managing editor of The Minneapolis Tribune; and several others, for whom seats have been reserved for this fashionable event.

Besides gentlemen theatrical, a contingent of representative railroad men have signified their intention of coming to give the house a good "send off." Among these will be Mr. E. L. Dudley, vice-president; Mr. A. B. Plough, general passenger and freight agent; and Mr. G. E. Gilliland, assistant general passenger agent of the St. Paul and Duluth road; Mr. H. D. Minor, president of the Eastern Minnesota; Mr. F. Green, division superintendent of the Northern Pacific; and others.

All of the twenty-seven boxes in the house will be filled with Duluth's beauty and fashion, and almost every seat in parquette and gallery has been engaged. That the gallery will be crowded goes without saying.

While much has been done in decorating the theater, much yet remains to be done. Night and day for the past three weeks workmen have labored to prepare for the opening, but another two weeks must elapse before everything is finished. It has been found impossible to complete the rose windows over the proscenium arch, but before the end of the Coghlan engagement this beautiful portion of the decoration will be finished. Owing to heavy orders the nickel-in-the-slot open glass arrangement to the seats will not be ready for sixty days. Neither is all the scenery painted, but Mr. Evans, one of Seeman & Landis's artists, is now at work and will complete the remaining sets within the next ten days.

Exactly at one minute after midnight this morning the beautiful drop curtain was hoisted into place, amidst the cries of admiration from those present.

Temple Opera Notes.
A large party from Tower and Ely, and smaller contingents from Thomson, Cloquet, N. P. Junction and Two Harbors, are in the city to attend the opening this evening.

When the first lot of theatrical baggage turned the corner of the city hall this morning an enthusiastic German (also a city official) remarked to a few present, "Dolt's pianos; everybody take a drink with me," and the proposition was unanimously accepted.

The work of erecting the portion over the entrance to the theater has been watched all day by an interested crowd. The seating capacity of the house is 1525, divided as follows: Gallery 700, parquette 185, parquette circle 254, balcony 230, balcony circle 120, boxes and loges 173. Chairs can be placed in the aisles for about 200 in addition to the regular seats.

The souvenir programs for this evening are unique and elegant. They are not too large, as such souvenirs often are. It consists of a folder, upon the first page of which is a gelatine label with cuts of the Duluth theater in 1870, 1883 and 1889. There is a dark blue border with silver stars and crescents and colored wild flowers. On the inside is a portrait of Miss Coghlan and the cast of Jocelyn, and on the back are the names of the directors of the building, the building committee and the contractors.

The dedicatory exercises of Temple opera will begin a half hour before the beginning of the theatrical performance. Judge O. P. Stearns will deliver an address of welcome, after which he will introduce Mr. Cobb, the famous theater architect, to whose genius is due the beautiful and convenient auditorium of the new opera house. Mr. Cobb will compliment the city on having erected such a beautiful home of the drama and will give a description of the plans and construction of the house.

Temple Opera Steam Heat.
Few buildings in the city are so well heated as Temple opera. The system in use is a combination of all the best points in the heating arrangements now in use, and possesses besides several features found in no other heating apparatus. William Horr, of Colonel Glenn's boiler establishment at West Duluth, which built the plant, has superintended putting in the heating apparatus, the first one of the kind ever put in a building in this city.

The system is simple in action, although complex in arrangement. It is a combination high and low pressure, that can be used either way as desired. The boilers are so arranged and connected that the high can assist the low in giving the desired pressure. The boilers are of about eighty-horse power each and are guaranteed to heat the building at a maximum temperature of seventy degrees during the coldest nights of winter, but the value of the system is shown to be without equal for the heat can be regulated to any temperature up to seventy degrees.

In the manual there are small registers under each seat, while pipes supply fresh air.

Today's Record of Wheat Cars Shows Tremendous Receipts.

An Unexampled Increase in the Visible—Market Notes.

Today's record of cars on track has been equalled but twice in the history of Duluth. On the thirteenth of September, 1886, Monday, there were 339 cars received, while on the Monday a week later 332 cars were received. Today's car receipts were 576, of which 482 were on the Eastern and 335 on the Northern Pacific. It is expected that while the number of cars received today is less by 52 than the largest day known, the receipts by bushels will be greater than any previous time. On Tuesday, September 14, 1886, posted receipts were 417,413 bu, tomorrow's will probably be larger.

In response to the very large receipts and the unexampled large increase in the visible supply, 2,122,000 bu, there was a weak feeling here and elsewhere. Trading was very active, and the drift of things up to noon was steadily downward. Prices both for cash and futures sold off from the opening. Shorts were busy in the opening, and may sales, and a good deal of cash wheat changed hands. The last hour was active and steadier.

Cash 1 hard opened at 81 1/2, broke to 81, recovered to 81 1/2, and closed at 81. No. 1 northern opened at 77 1/2 with large transactions; it closed 77 bid. No. 2 northern opened at 74 1/2, closed firm at 74 1/2 bid. No. 3 small sales at 62. October 1 hard opened at 81 1/2, with good business at that figure early; it closed at 81 1/2. October 1 northern sales at 77 1/2, closed 77 nominal. November dull, closed dull at 80 1/2. December opened at 81 1/2, followed by sales at 81 1/2, steadily declined to 80 1/2. Year wheat closed at 80 1/2. May opened at 87 1/2, ruled active alternately at 87 1/2 and 87 1/2, declined under large business to 86 1/2 where it closed.

Weekly Movement.
There is now in store here 1,709,304 bu wheat, 707 1/2 bu corn and 4798 bu oats. This is an increase of wheat of 475,955 bu, a slight decrease in corn and an increase in oats. Of the wheat here 702,002 is 1 hard, 442,270 is 1 northern, 221,142 is 2 northern and 278,532 is special bin. A year ago there was 703,000 bu here. Minneapolis and St. Paul have now 3,258,000 bu, an increase of 844,170 bu for the week. Of grain in store the Lake Superior and Union Improvement elevators have 837,143 bu wheat, 2523 bu corn and 4798 bu oats. The Duluth Elevator company has 403,410 bu wheat, 4533 bu corn and 10,000 bu oats. The Great Northern has 468,743 bu wheat.

The Day's Movement.
Cars on track this morning were 577; Northern Pacific, 335; Eastern, 482. Corn on track, none. Receipts were 123,730 wheat, shipments, 138,330 bu wheat. Shipments by vessels were as follows: Merritt, 23,300 bu; S. L. Tilley, 40,000 bu; Kingston, Gladstone, 75,000 bu; Buffalo, all wheat.

Temple Opera Steam Heat.
Few buildings in the city are so well heated as Temple opera. The system in use is a combination of all the best points in the heating arrangements now in use, and possesses besides several features found in no other heating apparatus. William Horr, of Colonel Glenn's boiler establishment at West Duluth, which built the plant, has superintended putting in the heating apparatus, the first one of the kind ever put in a building in this city.

The system is simple in action, although complex in arrangement. It is a combination high and low pressure, that can be used either way as desired. The boilers are so arranged and connected that the high can assist the low in giving the desired pressure. The boilers are of about eighty-horse power each and are guaranteed to heat the building at a maximum temperature of seventy degrees during the coldest nights of winter, but the value of the system is shown to be without equal for the heat can be regulated to any temperature up to seventy degrees.

In the manual there are small registers under each seat, while pipes supply fresh air.

The treatise fully describes the kinds of tin roofs, how to put tin together, and the special advantages of standing seam roof, the allowance for a greater amount of expansion and contraction over that of the flat seam. Also treats of the gutters, iron walls, soldering, painting, suggestions, as builders' and carpenters' specifications, etc. This little work has already entered upon its fourth edition, evidencing the fact of its merit, and the favor which it has met at the hands of the trade. These will be mailed on application to the head office or any of its branches.

DULUTH'S RELIABLE AND LEADING CLOTHIERS,
MANUFACTURERS OF CLOTHING AT RETAIL.

WE MAY HAVE IMITATORS, BUT NO COMPETITORS.

FACTS! PROOFS! BEAT THEORIES! CLAIMS!

Ready-Made versus Tailor-Made.

Many people have been led to believe and told by other dealers that OUR TAILOR-MADE CLOTHING was nothing but ready-made clothing under a new name. To show the falsity of these statements by comparison in the workmanship, the shape, the fitting, etc., you now have the opportunity of seeing both side by side in our store. The difference is this: We can sell you good ready-made suits in all wool Cheviots, Corkscrews, Cassimeres, Tweeds, etc., at $10. You would be willing to pay $15 to $18 for, and probably pay ready-made stores such prices. Our tailor-made suits are sold for $15, $20, $22, $25, $28 and $30. Our prices on ready-made clothing show how much less we sell it to you than others. Our $15, $20 and $25 tailor-made suits and overcoats show how much less our price is than the merchant tailor's for the same goods. Why? Because we are the only clothiers in Duluth who manufacture and wholesale clothing, saving you one profit. Being the heaviest buyers of furnishing goods, underwear, gloves and mittens in Duluth, we buy goods at prices and quantities that little fellows can't touch.

ANOTHER BIG SCHEME

The Northern Pacific Said to Be After an Eastern Line,
To Get Through Connection With the Atlantic Sea Coast.

Quebec, Oct. 22.—President T. P. Oakes of the Northern Pacific Railroad company and the gentleman accompanying him decline to talk about their mission to Quebec, but allege that the whole party is here on private business. A prominent railway man who was with them all yesterday declares that their visit is likely to be fraught with great importance to the province of Quebec.

Premier Mercier, whose guests they were yesterday, publicly declared a few days since that most important railway legislation would be submitted to the legislature at the forthcoming session, and a leading politician declares that his basis was agreed upon. It is known that the Northern Pacific desires a shorter route to Europe. The St. Lawrence is the shortest water route, but the Grand Trunk and its connections east of Chicago do not furnish a short enough land line.

Charters for links of railway in Ontario and Quebec to shorten the present route, which the Grand Trunk railroad had neglected to make, have been secured by the Northern Pacific in names of other parties, and the company is now actively engaged in the work. It is known that the Northern Pacific is determined to have shorter Eastern connections than the Canadian Pacific, and is said to be about purchasing the Peninsula railway from the Riviere Du Loup to Edmundston, New Brunswick.

Will Fight "Strong Boy." LONDON, Oct. 22.—Jack Wainwright, who was recently defeated by Jim Smith, the champion of England, is now actively training for his meeting with Jack Fallon, the American "Strong Boy," which takes place three weeks hence. The betting strongly favors Wainwright, although Charles E. Davies of Chicago, better known as the "Parson," and who is looking out for the interests of the American lad, says that Fallon will make mince of his opponent. The American is winning his faith on Davies' statements.

Breakthrough Very Ill. LONDON, Oct. 22.—Charles Bradlaugh, the well-known political social reformer and member of the house of commons for Northampton, is very ill and it is feared that he is dying.

EX-SECRETARY BAYARD. Delaware Democrats Cannot Get Along Without Mr. Bayard. WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Ex-Secretary Thomas F. Bayard of Delaware, is fighting to get back into the senate. The Delaware democrats have come to regard Bayard as their mascot, and are laying their overthrust last year, by which Senator Blodgett, a republican, was elected, to the fact that Mr. Bayard was not personally at the head of the campaign. It is said he will be offered the nomination for governor next year, unless he should be elected to the senate.

The first vacancy in the senate will not occur until March 3, 1900, over three years hence, when the term of Gray, who is Bayard's successor, will expire. This is the place that Bayard is looking for, but Gray and his friends are bitterly opposed to the return of the ex-secretary of state, and the prospects are that a very acrimonious personal fight will ensue. Senator Gray, it will be remembered, wanted to get the place on the supreme bench given either to Mr. Lamar or Mr. Fuller, and his friends claim that if Mr. Bayard had stood by him as he should have done Gray would have been appointed.

MILLER DENIES That He is Likely to Resign the Presidency of the St. Paul Road. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 22.—President Roswell Miller of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway denies a report to the effect that J. C. Stahl, whose appointment as second vice-president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway was recently announced, will succeed President Miller, who it is said is soon to be called to the control of some other work. The report is given on the authority of a prominent railroad man, who says:

"Miller is held in high esteem by Drexell, Morgan & Son and other prominent bankers of this country and Europe, who are largely interested not only in the St. Paul, but in many other railroads of the country. His ability as a financier is especially marked, and as is well known, it is recognized and appreciated by the bankers and large railroad stockholders. This makes him valuable to the capitalists, who really control the greater part of the railroad property of this country. The directors of the St. Paul road is made up of some of the wealthiest business men in the country, who are also heavy holders in other railroad property. They see Mr. Miller as a man who can take hold of this property and get more out of it than almost any one else, and they are after him to do it."

Terrible Drought in Montana. ST. PAUL, Oct. 22.—L. B. Ros of Miles City, Mont., a member of the Montana legislature, arrived here a day or two ago, and paints a picture of suffering from the great drought. He says in western Montana the grass is literally withered away for want of rain. Many thousands of head of cattle have starved to death for want of grass and famished for water. "Ranchmen," said he, "in that part of the state are buying as high as $20 and $25 a ton for hay, and in a week or two it will be impossible to get it at any price. Water is being hauled in some cases as far as twenty miles, and several ranchmen have made preparations to go farther West."

Belford Clerk to Resign. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—The Belford-Clark Publishing company will resume business in a few days. The company's financial difficulties are about adjusted.

HELP FOR DAKOTA.

A Call for Assistance for Starving Nelson County Farmers.

An Official Report—How They Live in Marshall County.

Charity should begin at home; the destitute of Duluth have no fault to find with Duluth generosity. The unfortunate poor of the city are well provided for. When the Johnstown sufferers called for aid Duluth responded with several thousand dollars.

Great Preparations Being Made—The Nelson County Farmers are in a Desperate Struggle. NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A special London cable says: "Elaborate preparations are being made for the reception of Mr. Gladstone at Southport tomorrow, where he will deliver an address that is intended as a manifesto on the political situation in the light of the recent elections. Not only will the 25,000 residents of the famous watering-place turn the day into a general holiday, but the whole of Lancashire will be in a festive mood. The fact is that in a figurative sense, turn out on mass, while special trains will bring thousands of adherents of the eminent statesman from Preston, Manchester and other points. The town is gaily decorated, and the principal streets are spanned by long processions of the most notable Gladstonian demonstration of recent years."

That Kind of a Man. Governor Howard Determined to Stop Prize Fighting and Promote Learning. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 22.—In his efforts to stop prize fighting in Wisconsin Governor Howard demonstrated that he is in earnest, and this has been repeated day after day in the newspapers as if it were the most wonderful thing. The fact is that Governor Howard is an earnest man all round. That is his long suit and people who have much to do with him find it out very soon.

It is not alone in his desire to stop prize fighting that he is in earnest. He is in earnest of the "Bennett" law, a measure which if enforced will make it compulsory on the managers of private schools to see to it that pupils are thoroughly instructed in the English language. He is so much in earnest in this matter that he is going to make it an issue in the next campaign. He has fully made up his mind and he is fearless enough to say that he would rather be beaten on this issue than dodge it and make a little oil off.

The determination of Howard to stand by the Bennett law and to keep it to the front has filled politicians with alarm and it is no wonder that he has been remonstrated with. But he will keep on just the same. He is that kind of a man. He maintains that it is his duty to do about and that the Bennett law instead of being a hoodoo is really a mascot.

FLOODS IN AICHI. Great Loss of Life and Devastation of Property. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Japanese papers state that complete reports from one prefecture in Aichi show that 685 people were drowned and 121 injured during the floods of Sept. 11, and that over 1000 houses were swept away. Thousands of acres of crops were destroyed. In review of calamities caused by the flood during the year 1899, the Japan Mail says:

"Incomplete returns show that twelve prefectures have been devastated, 2,419,000 people have been homeless, and over 100,000 people deprived of means of subsistence. More than 50,000 houses have been swept away or damaged, 150,000 acres of crops destroyed, about 400 bridges washed away and some hundreds of roads broken up."

The Pope to Arbitrate. PARIS, Oct. 22.—A Rome correspondent of the Gardelien says that the pope has arrived there on a special mission to the Vatican. Gen. Ignatieff, the correspondent says he bears an autograph letter from the pope, in which the arbitration of the Pope in the Balkan question, and leaving His Holiness free to convocate a congress or adopt any other course which he may deem fit in judgment to the establishment of the modus vivendi between Russia and Austria.

A Month of Mourning. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—This is a month of mourning for the Gardelien, that he has the crowd with distinguished members of the fraternity. At 10 o'clock this morning the thirty-third annual convocation of the grand commandery of the Knights Templars of Illinois opened at the Lyric Opera house.

The Johnstown Dead. JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 22.—The work of removing the unknown dead and their interment in a plot especially for that purpose is in progress. It is the intention to erect a neat headstone at each grave, and a full description of each victim with a memorandum of every article taken from the body. Over $5000 have already been subscribed for continuing the search for the dead, and subscriptions are still coming in freely.

Unitarian Convention. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A largely attended conference of Unitarians from different parts of the West opened this morning in the Church of the Messiah. Its object is to consider the needs and opportunities of the denomination in this section of the country, preparatory to the annual convention which begins its sessions next week in this city.

The Getting Warm. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Unless all of Spalding's reser players sign contracts Saturday, merits of injunction will be used out to prevent their playing with any other team.

Indianapolis. CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Indianapolis baseball club has signed Ediet Jorg, the young pitcher who has been on trial since the first of the season. None of the regular and reserved players have signed, nor were they requested to do so.

HELP FOR DAKOTA.

A Call for Assistance for Starving Nelson County Farmers.

An Official Report—How They Live in Marshall County.

Charity should begin at home; the destitute of Duluth have no fault to find with Duluth generosity. The unfortunate poor of the city are well provided for. When the Johnstown sufferers called for aid Duluth responded with several thousand dollars.

Away up in the northern part of North Dakota is Nelson county, the inhabitants of which are in terrible want, needing all the necessities of life. For two years the crops have been a total failure, and men, women and children are dressed in rags, no food in their houses, no fuel and the severe northern winter close at hand.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting this morning another appeal was received from the Nelson county sufferers, praying for aid as their very lives depend on the charity of this city and other places.

All donations to these poor people can be left at the Wells-Stone Mercantile company's building, the Manitoba railroad, furnishing free transportation charges.

An official report just made to the St. Paul chamber of commerce on the subject of the distress among these farmers corroborates in every detail the statement made in The Herald a few days ago and even makes the picture darker than it then appeared. The report says the suffering and destitution is much greater than has been reported. There has been disposition to cover up the facts, believing that if this matter is generally understood in its true light that it would result in keeping out immigration and capital. But the destitution and suffering is so great and extensive that the local authorities and relief societies are unable to cope with it.

The frost of last year out of the crops and the farmers were obliged to mortgage their farms for feed, provision, clothing, etc., to carry them through last winter. This spring, stock, machinery, etc., was mortgaged for seed and funds to put in the crop. There has been a continual drought through the entire season, and the crops have been almost a total failure. The farmers are exhausted, and in Ramsey county alone there are from two to five hundred families entirely destitute. In Nelson and Walsh counties there is also great destitution and suffering, and there are probably in this district of North Dakota 1000 families entirely destitute.

The devastated district in North Dakota is directly dependent upon the Twin Cities, Duluth and the Lake Superior region on the line of the Northern Pacific railroad in Dakota for assistance. Grand Forks has already appointed committees and is actively engaged in supplying clothing and some provisions to this district.

It is imperative that this devastated district of North Dakota should receive some assistance immediately. The supplies most urgently required are boots, shoes, harness, mittens, underwear, flour, meal, necessary groceries and grain for their stock. It is estimated that there are nearly enough potatoes and hay raised in this district to supply the demands. State and city assistance will at once be asked, in the full knowledge that similar aid will be sent there will be starvation and death from cold and exposure both of persons and cattle during this winter.

From the Red River Valley. ARVILE, Minn., Oct. 22.—Two years ago the farmers of Marshall county were unfortunate enough to lose almost their entire crop owing to an aggravation of causes which produced a poor harvest throughout the entire state. Since that time they have been struggling to relieve themselves from the burden of financial embarrassment which they then incurred, but fate has been against them. During last year the prospect for good crops in the county were encouraging, but devastating hail storms of unusual violence visited the eastern part of this county and practically laid everything waste to the harvest. This disaster, coming after the previous visitation, has reduced many of the farmers to the very verge of starvation, and unless something is done to relieve their distress there will be terrible suffering this winter. Governor Merriam has appointed a committee to investigate the needs and to make a report on the existing distress.

Chief of Police Briggs has moved his family from Duluth to rooms over Meagher & Kennedy's store.

J. E. Lockwood of Toronto is registered at the Phillips today.

S. Demers, who arrived here from Bessemer, Mich., lately, has accepted a position with C. G. Osborne, the Second street hardware man.

THE STORE BUILDING ERA.

A Large Number of Store Buildings to be Erected in Duluth.

Duluth has never seen such an era of building of fine structures for rental stores as she will witness between now and next September. There will be the equivalent of several solid blocks of store buildings erected in the season, plans for several of which have already been made while others are in the hands of architects for early completion. Most of these structures will be three and four stories high, though several will be but two and others will probably be five and six or perhaps more.

The building of retail stores has not kept pace in the past year or two with the construction of great hotels and office buildings, but this apparently will be changed soon.

Mention has already been made of the handsome four-story store to be built by Brown Brothers, to be used exclusively in their grocery business. It will be four stories on Michigan street, with large basements, and three stories on Superior street, with a fine front. It will be very handsome. The foundation is already in and the entire structure will be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1.

The buildings to be erected by H. E. Long, on the site of the burned stores, and 9 East Superior street, will also be ready Jan. 1. Considerable rock excavation is needed here, but it is already well under way and is being pushed rapidly. This building will be at present but two stories high.

Early in the spring the Woodbridge building, No. 106 and 108 West Superior street, will be torn down and a fine business structure, 50x115 feet and four stories above Superior street, will be erected. It will have four stories, each 25 feet from two on Superior and two on Michigan street and will be a very handsome structure.

It is possible that the fifty feet adjoining will also be covered by a handsome building.

The Buchanan building, No. 208 West Superior street, has already begun work on the foundation is begun today. A few doors further west Clegg & Prindle will build a 25-foot front store and office structure.

The small wood building on the site will be moved at once and work begun this fall. In the same block the Minnesota Loan and Trust company is putting in the foundation of the building already mentioned in these columns.

There will be beside these several buildings that as yet cannot be mentioned. Some of the vacant space between the Board of Trade and St. Louis hotel will be filled; Mr. Boies will fill the 50-foot gap next to The Spaulding, while E. J. Hoppman has already begun the building opposite. The Hamilton building on the site of the Windsor hotel will go forward, giving several other store buildings are under consideration and will probably be erected.

Does History Repeat Itself? Frank J. Bowman of St. Louis, notice of whose murder appears in recent papers, was a character well known in Duluth for his hunting and fishing proclivities. He was here quite frequently, the last time a few months ago, and was universally disliked by sportsmen. He owned a small island containing less than an acre of ground, formed by a division of the Bruce river, and his domain was bordered with notices warning trespassers away, and on one occasion he drove off a canoe party of ladies and gentlemen from Duluth at the point of a revolver. He had the reputation of being a quarrelsome man among the frequenters of fishing resorts.

Mr. Mitchell has had seven years' experience among the people of India and brought home an extensive collection of curious articles from India. These will be on view before and after the lecture and include arms, dresses, ornaments worn by the women, idols, carved model of a temple, pilgrim's umbrellas from the shrine of judgment, clay figures, etc. This lecture will be thoroughly instructive, interesting and amusing. Mr. Mitchell has promised to explain some of India's industries, including the peculiar agricultural system.

Notes of Future Plays. Manager Haycock has booked three games of attractions for Temple Opera to appear within the next two weeks. For Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, Oct. 23 and 24, Mrs. George S. Knight, whose graceful "shadow dance" made her famous, holds the boards in "Miller's Bill" and "The Circus Rider." The next entertainment, Nov. 1 and 2, is Donnelly and Girard's "Natural Gas," the most laughable comedy on the road.

The total receipts for last evening were $1704. Over $3000 have been taken in at the end of the Coghlan engagement.

This evening Miss Coghlan appears as Stephanie in "Forget-me-not," a brilliant emotional play of three acts. In "Forget-me-not" the moral qualities of the two principal characters are represented in direct antithesis to that of Saviani and Jocelyn. While in "Jocelyn" Miss Coghlan was a marvel of pure, sweet, but strong-minded, womanhood, as the French adventuress she is a woman without crime or taste to gain her end, who plays with men and molds them to her will as she would lumps of clay.

As Saviani, Sullivan was the some of wickedness, yet as Sir Horace Welby—he is the model English gentleman. The plot is subtle and interesting. Stephanie, having a hold upon the daughter of an English house, thrust herself upon the family and maintains her position through a detestable plot. Sir Horace Welby follows her in several attempts, holding her in check by knowledge of one of the woman's early escapades. Later she is forced to abandon her plot and is finally murdered.

PUT THE BEST MAN ON.

There is one good feature in the new ballot system which we are to use, upon which little stress has been laid by its advocates. Yet it may prove to be one of the most signal benefits of the change. It is the impulse given to the selection of fit men for every place on the ticket by the ease with which part of the ticket may be bolted. Heretofore when the voting was done by separate party tickets, it required a certain effort on the part of dissatisfied voters, as that eminent orthodox party organ, The Boston Journal points out, to give effect to their discontent. It was necessary to scratch, paste or get up split tickets. The bother of this necessity was such that most would swallow their discontent after venting their temper in grumbling, and drop in the straight ticket, while some would refrain from voting at all or vote the opposition as a whole.

All this bother is done away with by the new system. The voter is no longer obliged to choose between two straight tickets or take the pains of cutting and pasting. The nominations made by all parties are on a single ballot before him, and it is no more exertion for him to make a cross in one place than in another. Thus, without affecting the general result, he can make individual preferences handy. Every one who has noted how common it is for the average voter to shirk the slightest extra exertion will readily appreciate how much the new plan adds to the risk of unfit nominations. For many men who have been in the habit of voting a straight ticket without scanning it closely or taking the pains to substitute any names, are now likely to hesitate about deliberately approving a candidate whom they have reason to hold unfit. For a voter is now called upon to take the responsibility of ratifying directly and particularly with his cross every nominee of his party. This is what many will shrink from who have not scrupled to drop in straight party tickets with the comforting sense for conscience that the party was responsible for the list and not themselves individually.

The Journal thinks that there are some surprises in store this year for easy-going and over-confident politicians who have assumed that in strong party districts a nomination was equivalent to an election and that the carrying of a caucus was the only thing needful to put in their man. Let these surprises surprise as they will be disappointing to the wire-pullers, it makes a strong call for candidates who will represent the best and most progressive forces of the party and have no need to fear the dissenting pencil. It may be that The Journal over rates the conscientiousness of the average voter and the chances for discrimination, but there is no question of the political prudence of offsetting these chances by sound nominations. In the growth of independence of judgment and in the closeness of the contests in many states, there is, with the aid of the new ballot, an assurance such as was never given before of first-class nominations by both parties for every place on the ticket. Every honest voter and lover of the republic, whatever his political preferences will welcome this assurance.

What the Detroit Free Press calls the new departure in architecture has improved the face of cities all over the country, as it admits, but it does not suit everybody. For it has made it "almost impossible for a third to tell whether he was breaking into a church, art gallery, orphan home or a business man's dwelling." There is just enough of the "salt of truth in that quip to make it savory."

When Andrew Carnegie took a ride in his coach last year he was made the target of a quiver of cheap pens that tried to point with venom the contrast between the millionaire and the mill-hand, but when he found a great public library he gets only a scath of recognition from the same pens. Yet his gift to Pittsburgh will be the noblest monument in the city. Weary of waiting for the councilmen to accept for the city his offer of $1,000,000 for a free library, he has appointed a citizens' committee to select a suitable site, upon which he will erect a library building, with quarters for Pittsburgh's newly organized Academy of Sciences. The building will eclipse anything of the kind in the country except the Smithsonian Institute at Washington.

Carl Schurz has been strongly scoring the wanton destroyers of trees in this country in his speech before the forestry congress. "Who destroys?" He says: "Not the lumberman who cuts for the personal use and gain, but the lumberman who wastes as much as he takes; the settler or miner who devastates whole mountain sides for a few sticks, the timber thief, the hunter and the mining prospector, who, building his camp-fire, sets in flames thousands of acres—aye, square miles—of forests, public opinion looking on with stolid indifference while the cruel, disgraceful, barbarous spendthriftness is going on. It is a government reckless of the future of the country which will permit it." It is a good thing to wake up public feeling on this question and to keep it awake, even with some extravagance of statement. Mr. Schurz fails to note that in a number of states the forests are really looked after with care, as in Maine, for example, where the guarded growth of new trees has fully replaced the destruction of the past twenty years. This could be opposed to his prophecy that at the rate the trees are now going another quarter of a century will find the United States stripped as bare as Asia Minor, but we do not care to put any stumbling blocks in the way of a good work, and he is undoubtedly doing work when he champions the American forest.

The Canadian annual bicycle tournament began at Toronto yesterday. McKenna has named the Brunswick-Collender billiard table as the one to be used in his match with Schaffer.

Having discovered how easy it was for Omaha, St. Paul and Minneapolis to walk off with the honors, Duluth is anxious to show the world how a first-class Lake Superior city can carry off the honors in 1890. The question of Duluth entering the league will be settled at the next league meeting."

That Little Tickling
In your throat, which makes you cough once in a while and keeps you constantly clearing your throat, arises from catarrh. Kansas catarrh is a constitutional disease, the ordinary cough medicines all fail to hit the spot. What you need is a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Many people who have taken this medicine for scrofula, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and other troubles, have been surprised that it should cure this troublesome cough. But to know the actual cause of the cough is to solve the mystery. Many cases of consumption can be traced back to the neglect of some such slight affection as this. Consumption can be controlled in its early stages, and the effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in purifying the blood, building up the general health, and expelling the scrofulous taint which is the cause of catarrh and consumption, has restored to perfect health many persons on whom this dread disease seemed to have a firm hold.

The scalars at Stillwater are about through with their work, and but few logs in the lake are left unscathed, the total this season being over close to 300,000,000 feet, as against 350,000,000 feet last year. In proportion to the logs which come through the boom this is a good showing—only 252,000,000 feet this year against 355,000,000 feet the previous year.

Herculean Strength.

Continually on the strain, or overtaxed at intervals, is far less desirable than ordinary vigor perpetuated by rational diet and exercise, and abstention from excess. Professional pugilists and athletes rarely attain extreme old age. As ordinary vigor may be retained by a wise regard for sanitary living, and for the protection against disease, which timely and judicious medication affords, so also it may be lost through prolonged sedentary labor, uninterrupted mental strain, and foolish eating and drinking, the chief and most immediate sequence of all four being dyspepsia. For this condition, thus, or in any way induced, and for its offspring, a failure of muscular and nervous vitality, Dr. Foster's Stomach Bitters is the prime and most genial of remedies. Not only indigestion, but loss of flesh, appetite and sleep are remedied by its use. Catarrhs of the stomach, bowels and liver complaint removed by it.

LESSONS OF LIFE.

READ, REFLECT, AND THEN ACT.

"In the world's broad field of battle, In the bivouac of life, Be not like dumb, driven cattle! Be a hero in the strife!"

It should be the ambition of everyone to make the most of his opportunities. Success or failure in life depends almost entirely upon ourselves. It is natural for one who succeeds to attribute it to his own superior ability, and for those who fail to blame some one else, or charge it up to ill luck. But to be honest and candid you will admit that the fault is in yourself. Just look back over the record of your life and you will see opportunities which presented themselves to you in such a manner that you now wonder how you could have failed to grasp them. Yes, you admit all this, and ask what of it? Well we wish to observe this: History repeats itself over and over again. In all probability you will be brought face to face with just as great opportunities, and fail again. Remember that life is a battle and that the best generals are crowned with the greatest success. It is not luck, but pluck that wins. Garfield once said: "A pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck." You probably ask what great opportunities we refer to and how you can take advantage of them. It may seem like an old story, and yet we want to tell it again and impress it upon you. Duluth has just settled down to a solid and wonderfully rapid growth. Its growth for the next ten years is going to be simply phenomenal, and within five years probably one-third of its population will live outside of the present city limits. The largest profits on real estate will be made on what is now outside property and in the suburban towns. This is the first year that any building of any consequence has been done at Lakeside. If you have not seen what has been accomplished, go and behold the transformation. This year is only a starter. Next year hundreds of fine residences will be built at London, Lester Park and Crosley Park, water and gas will be put in, streets graded, and many other substantial improvements made. Now, in face of all these facts, you propose to wait till all these things are done before buying? If you do, you will pay some sharper fellow than yourself a handsome advance. There will be plenty of buyers then, and if you buy now you will be the lucky fellow who gets the advance. There is no element of loss to be considered, and the only question is, how much will you make? We can sell you some of the best of this suburban property, that will unquestionably become popular and high priced within a very few years, and at prices so low and terms so easy that any one can buy. We are selling splendid lots at $100 each, only $10 down and $1 per week without interest or taxes. You will never see such opportunities again and if you care to do well and make money you will come in and get a plat of Crosley Park, with prices, etc. Don't wait till prices are advanced again.

"Stand not upon the order of your buying, but buy at once!" —Shakespeare.

TEMPLE OPERA OPENING

Miss Coghlan and Her Excellent Company Give Her New Melodrama.

A Very Pleasant Occasion Enjoyed by a Large Audience.

The Scriptural injunction against putting new wine into old bottles was observed at the Temple opera last evening, when the new theater was opened with a new play. There was a good audience, the lower part of the house and the balcony being filled, and the gallery having a fair complement of play-goers who prefer to pay a low price for the privilege of wearing their hats during the performance. The boxes were mostly occupied, also, and the whole indicated a very successful opening.

The method of lighting the house is excellent. The great number of detached electric lamps have the distinct merit that they do not present a great central point of glare and glitter to distract attention and irritate the eye. The chairs are comfortable. All the arrangements for the comfort of the audience are excellent, and when the ushers and other employees become a little more familiar with their new duties Duluth people will be able to surrender themselves to the allurements of a first-class place of amusement when they enter the Temple opera and take no thought for their corporeal comfort.

The audience last night was a representative Duluth audience. There was no general attempt to do honor to the occasion in full dress, as had been expected, though there were a number of ladies in evening dress and a large number of gentlemen who appeared in full dress. The opening ceremony was the dedicatory address, delivered by Mr. Oscar Cobb, the architect of the building, who was pleasantly introduced by Judge O. P. Stearns, who is an old-time friend of Mr. Cobb's and who took occasion to say a few words about the work of the building committee, of which he is the chairman. Mr. Cobb made the following remarks:

I thank you most heartily for this highly esteemed compliment, and hope and trust that this theater and temple will be a permanent source of pleasure and enjoyment to all who enter it. I am sure that the building committee will be proud to have the building committee, of which he is the chairman. Mr. Cobb made the following remarks:

On the 31st inst., at Medora, Ind., Marcia W. Lewis, assistant city engineer of this city, and Miss Kate Turrell will be wedded. At the conclusion of their wedding tour they will reside in their own home at Duluth. Mr. Lewis is a native of Medora, Ind. His many friends congratulate him.

Senator A. J. Whitman of Duluth will be married to Miss Julia Nettleton, daughter of William Nettleton of St. Paul, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

There is considerable land in northern Wisconsin near Iron and Brule rivers about which the land department and the Omaha railway have for some time been in dispute. The land embraces 50,000 acres and includes 7,795 acres of indemnity land from swamp land, 30,222 acres on account of an error in a former statement made by the general land office, 12,909 acres, on account of lands erroneously sold by the United States, 10,553 acres, on account of lands erroneously certified as indemnity, which were in fact granted lands. The secretary of the land department has notified the Omaha railway that the land is to be sold by grant, under both the acts of 1850 and of 1864. This ruling will give the Omaha railway the land to the amount of about 37,000 acres.

On much of this land settlers, men from Duluth and vicinity, have been squinting for some time in an attempt to get possession. By this late decision these settlers are all ousted and the land is to be sold by grant, under both the acts of 1850 and of 1864. This ruling will give the Omaha railway the land to the amount of about 37,000 acres.

The D. J. Sinclair Abstract of Title company has been organized and will be incorporated and will be known henceforth as the St. Louis County Abstract company. A number of rights and interests have been ordered for the Duluth and Winton roads, but no order has yet been given for the purchase of the land. stantly and was called upon for a very great amount of hard work, which he performed conscientiously and with discriminating intelligence.

Thus pleasantly was the Temple opera dedicated.

HELD THE MEETING.

The Council Withstands the Attraction of the Opera House.

Although there was a strong attraction just across the street the council meeting drew its usual crowd of spectators. Estimates amounting to $800 were reported by the board of public works. The board also awarded the contract for grading Second alley, from First to Second avenue west, to Traff Bros. Several sidewalk contracts were also awarded. The matter of granting a liquor license to Hollis & Lobb at 200 West Superior street and the transference of Thomas McKinney's license to W. W. Butchart were referred.

The Gas and Water company reported the completion of the West Third street extension. Messrs. Chas. and Fred. Smith asked the council for permission to remove the building used by Mannheim & Hung to the rear of the lot, as they wish to put up a building. The Gas and Water company asked for $209.37 for guarantee on gas and water contracts ordered in by the city. The bill was referred.

The Duluth Electric company submitted its proposal to the city for the extension of the contract for lighting the city for the further period of two years. The matter was referred. Resolutions ordering the city engineer to certify to the city auditor to county auditor for grading Fifth street from Fourteenth avenue to Twelfth avenue east; paving Second street, from Eighth avenue east to Eighth avenue west; grading Fifth avenue west, from Third street to Sixth; grading New York avenue, from Lake Superior to Sixth street.

Alderman Thomas introduced a resolution ordering the police to investigate the report that gambling in which boys and young men are participants, is going on in the Anderson building.

Several Weddings. William T. Gregory of Minneapolis, at one time representing Linton & Gregory here and Miss Nellie Sowle, daughter of L. T. Sowle of the Sowle Elevator company, will be married at the Church of the Redeemer, at Minneapolis, at 11 o'clock.

H. S. Moody, of the St. Louis County Abstract company, and Miss Katie K. Emerson are to be wedded tomorrow at the home of the bride. Both are well known in this city and receive the hearty congratulations of their friends. They will reside in a handsome home at Lester Park, which Mr. Moody has just built.

On the 31st inst., at Medora, Ind., Marcia W. Lewis, assistant city engineer of this city, and Miss Kate Turrell will be wedded. At the conclusion of their wedding tour they will reside in their own home at Duluth. Mr. Lewis is a native of Medora, Ind. His many friends congratulate him.

Senator A. J. Whitman of Duluth will be married to Miss Julia Nettleton, daughter of William Nettleton of St. Paul, Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

MIGRATION OF INDUSTRIES

The Westward Movement of Manufacturing Industries.

Cause and Promotion of This Growing Change in Centers.

The drift of eastern manufacturing enterprises toward the West is now attracting the attention it deserves. Possibly the latest decision made, that of Hawthorne, Searl & Co., the great stove manufacturers of Albany, to move to Aurora, Ill., may have awakened renewed interest in the subject. The industrial wind is blowing strong westerly and every straw shows its progress. In the past year a large number of eastern establishments have either removed their entire works to the West or have established branches that are expected soon to overshadow the main tree.

All these movements are the result of a careful and comparative study of these questions, raw material, fuel, markets, and show that the industrial movement toward the West is not a passing fancy, but a permanent change in the center of demand with it and for a longer and longer haul from Eastern depots of supply to the center of consumption.

All points considered, fuel, markets, raw material and freight rates, the conclusion is inevitable that the culmination point of all this movement must be the head of navigation on Lake Superior, in other words Duluth. As it is emphasized this conclusion the facts cannot be dodged that the largest single enterprise located in the West by Eastern men and Eastern money is the plant of the Minnesota Iron and Steel company at this city. Besides this there are several concerns that have moved to Duluth to get the advantages of location here, all of which are successful.

The comments of an Eastern journal of the iron trade on this Westward trend are interesting. The Iron Age, in an article on "Manufacturers Moving Westward," says:

The movement is not of recent origin. It has been in progress for many years. Many Eastern concerns have long had branch establishments in the West, but the movement toward the West is now attracting the attention it deserves. ROSE COGHLAN, ARTIST.

Artistic and Brilliant Production of Forget-Me-Not at Temple Opera.

Program for the First Mozart Concert--Amusement Notes.

Rose Coghlan in Forget Me Not is in her dramatic element. As "Stephanie," the beautiful, brilliant and unscrupulous Countess de Mohrvar, she has full opportunity to show talent and versatility. The key-note for the part has been set by actresses of great reputation and great genius, and when it is said that Miss Coghlan has established for herself a place in the thinny-occupied front rank of artists who have made reputations in this part, it is as high praise as can possibly be given. The play is one of the very best on the stage. It has held its place through the changing fashion of playwrights and the varying taste of playgoers, and it is interpreted as Miss Coghlan and her support interpret it. It is as keen and bright as a Toledo blade, abounds in dramatic situations and lively dialogue. Its plot is good, and is not revealed except as it unfolds itself on the stage. Miss Coghlan is called upon to exhibit a great degree of versatility, and gives a most satisfactory and finished representation of the character of Stephanie. The part calls constantly for acting. Not only does much depend upon the speaking of the lines, but there is constant demand for the fine shading of elegant gesture and expressive glance. In the more tumultuously passionate moments, when the terrible vengeance of one of Stephanie's early victims seemed about to strike her, and her magnificent aplomb utterly forsake her, Miss Coghlan called upon to display all the qualities of a great actress. It was here that she showed her poorest work. But it was very far from being weak, only by comparison with the exquisite acting throughout the piece there was observable a trifling falling off from the high standard. It was quite pardonable, and perhaps inevitable, as it would require an actress of very great powers of endurance, as well as extraordinary genius, to carry the part through to the end as Miss Coghlan carried it to this concluding scene.

Of the support, Mr. John T. Sullivan as "Horace Welby," Mr. E. Tom Webber as "Prince Molletti," Miss Agnes Thomas as "Alice Verney" and Miss Alice Fairbrother as "Mrs. Foley," were excellent. Mr. Sullivan was quite a favorite, and gave additional evidence that he is an actor of great talent and devotes himself to the study of his roles. This evening the company repeats "Jocelyn," and the engagement closes tomorrow evening with "The Coghlan's own version of 'Peg Woffington'."

THE MOZART CONCERT.

A Fine Program of Orchestral and Vocal Music--Saturday Evening.

The program for the first concert of the Mozart association was this morning received from Mr. Frank Danz, Jr. The concert is to be held at the Temple Opera, having been found impossible to arrange for the use of the Temple Opera or the Congregational church. The orchestra will consist of twenty-one pieces, including soloists, and the vocal numbers will be given by Mrs. F. S. Wardwell, who is well-known to all Duluth as one of the sweetest sopranos in the Northwest, and whose every appearance here adds to her deserved reputation. Following is the program:

Grand March, Overture, "William Tell," Rossini.
Song, "My Peaceful Song," Graber-Hoffman.
Mrs. F. S. Wardwell.
Grand Fantasia, Solo for flute by Mr. Ch. Freeman.
Boehm.
string Orchestra.
Brahms, "Gillies."
Al Fresco, Zaverall.
Lehmann Selection, Wagner.
Little Grandmother, Lange.
Vocal Obligato, Mr. F. Danz.
Overture, "Mignon," Thomas.
Song, "Hush My Little Boy," McGowan.
Mrs. Wardwell.
The Forge in the Forest, Michaels.
Night, Daybreak, by the choir, Prayer.

This is a program which requires no comment. It shows for itself that the concert is to be one that will appeal to all music lovers, and the reputation of Danz's orchestra assures that it will be worthily performed. The instrumental soloists, Messrs. Freeman and Danz, are known to be masters of their instruments. Mrs. J. N. McKinley is to accompany Mrs. Wardwell, which is a guarantee that every part of the concert will be on the same high plane of excellence.

Members of the Mozart association can get their season tickets by applying to the treasurer, Mr. B. Silberman, No. 9 and 11 West Superior street. There will be a limited number of admission tickets sold to this concert, which may be had of Mr. J. M. Anderson at the store of the Duluth Music company, 115 West Superior street.

Mrs. Knight in Comedy.
Advance Agent O'Leary came to town yesterday to prepare the way to the hearts of Duluth amusement-lovers for Mrs. George S. Knight and her company, who are to be at Temple Opera next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Mrs. Knight has been in Duluth, and such as saw her will be glad to welcome her again. Her merits in comedy are well established, and a treat is in store. She is receiving glowing notices from the newspapers along her route.

The New Variety.
Mr. J. S. Barnes has arrived and is to take up his residence here. He has a large force of workmen in the building formerly known as the Peoples theater, and is thoroughly renovating and remodeling it for his new variety theater, which is to open on Monday, Nov. 3. Mr. Barnes declares that the features that have made the Peoples odious to decent people will be entirely absent from his new theater, and that he intends to conduct it for the purpose of presenting strictly legitimate variety. He will open with the "National Four" company.

MARINE MATTERS.

Notes of New Lake Ships, the Water Stage.

Port List.

While making a landing at Amherstburg, Ont., the steamer North Wind, ran into the tug International, striking her amidships, staying in her side and causing her to leak so badly that she had to be taken to Detroit for repairs.

The North Wind also struck the schooner Theodore Voges.

Water in the lower lakes and rivers is now at as low a point as it has ever been, and Gen. Poe says he expects to see it still lower. The cause of this is the remarkably light rainfall over the lake region. Another singular thing is the fact that the water in Lake Superior is considerably above normal.

F. W. Wheeler will build for the Eddy Transportation company a barge 240 feet long, 39 feet beam and 18 feet hold. She will be a duplicate of the Mabel Wilson, 1185 tons. Cost, $80,000.

The Inter-Ocean Transportation company will handle 500,000 tons of ore the present season. Deliveries are being made at Illinois Steel company's works. Next season the company expect to transport 650,000 tons of ore, the allotment to the company's new boat being 150,000 tons, which she will be able to carry in fifteen trips.

The Republic Iron Mining company will add a steel steamer to its fleet of wooden boats. The Globe Iron Works company yesterday closed a contract with the mining company for a steamer of 300 tons capacity. She will be built with triple expansion engines and will be ready for work early next season. The Republic Iron company's fleet has been engaged exclusively in the ore trade for six or seven years past. The steel boat is the boat of the future if the judgment of the managers of Lake Superior mines is to be relied upon.

The Shickaluna is discharging rails at Port Arthur and will come here light to grain to Kingston.

The City of Fremont left this afternoon for Hancock on her last round trip this season. She will return here and leave for Chicago where she will lay up for the winter.

Chicago comment on the James R. Langdon, the latest Vermont Central propeller. "In her construction the company was limited by the locks in Welland canal, and she was built to fit them, with no room to spare. On that account the Langdon is admittedly too wide for her length, being 42 feet beam. She has only a single spar. Although not a bad-looking boat these items tend to hurt her beauty as a piece of marine architecture. It is claimed that she was not built to be pretty, but to make money. Some marine men say, however, that the added carrying capacity her extra two feet of beam gives will be more than offset by the coal required to drive her at the rate of speed now demanded in package freight business. That extra two feet will also mean considerable more time in port, so it will hinder her rapid movement in Chicago river."

The schooner Adriatic, built by James Davidson of Bay City for the general trade, and launched last week, cost $50,000 and will carry 1700 tons. She is 211 feet long, 35½ feet beam and 17 feet hold. She has double decks, and is built in the most approved fashion. Capt. Joseph Lillibridge will sail her.

Ore Shipments.
Shipments of iron ore by lake this season already reach 6,000,000 tons, and the close of navigation is a month hence. All estimates of production made in the spring have been exceeded, and mine-owners and furnaces, who are supposed to keep pretty close track of the situation, are as much surprised as anyone at the enormous output. There can be no question that 1889 will be a prosperous year in the iron and steel trades, and all parties interested are making preparations for a big season's work. Of total shipments the mines of the Duluth district have sent forward about one-ninth.

TERRIBLE NEED OF WATER

The Drought Causing Great Suffering in Southern Minnesota.

Prairie Fires, Fire at Winona, Luverne's Jug Trade, News Notes.

WATERVILLE, Oct. 24.—It is almost impossible to state the severity of the drought in this region, and the evil effects it is causing without rain. All creeks and rivers are dry and have been for some time, and lakes were never so low in the history of the country.

Only the best of wells furnish any water, and many think it is unfit for use. Certain it is that there is much sickness, but whether this is the cause or not is impossible to say. Farmers southeast of here, in Bloomington, have been hauling water for some time for domestic use, and for watering stock, from a distance of from one to six miles.

Deep wells are being sunk by those who can afford it, and they will be the only sources of supply this winter in all probability, as it would take weeks of rain to put the ground in ordinary condition. Recent excavations in villages show perfectly dry earth to a depth of seven feet.

AFTER 'DOC' AMES.

He Gets Some Interesting Letters in His Mail.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—Ex-Mayor A. A. Ames, whose rambling about "Irish-ridden Ireland," on his return from Europe lately, caused such a revolution of feeling among the Irish admirers, has received five different threatening letters signed "Irishman," "Catholic," "Clan-na-Gael," etc. They warn him that if he does not leave the country he will suffer the fate of Dr. Cronin. The handwriting in each is different from the others.

Dr. Ames's friends claim to know where the letters came from, and promise to make it interesting for the authors. There are said to be 300 Clan-na-Gael members in Minneapolis. Interesting Evidence. MOOREHEAD, Oct. 24.—In the case of the United States vs. James G. Stewart for robbing the Moorhead postoffice last November the testimony offered by the government shows an unusually delicate thread of circumstantial evidence. On the day after the robbery there was found in the postoffice a little roll of cloth, stained with blood, which had evidently dropped from a wounded finger. On the piece of cloth was a laundry mark identified by a local laundryman as one he had placed on Stewart's handkerchief, of peculiar color and border. Stewart's hands were unwound the day before the robbery. The day following he appeared in court with his thumb tied with a piece of cloth, which the laundryman recognized as another fragment of the handkerchief he had marked and washed. There were stains of blood on the broken window of the postoffice, showing that the thief had wounded himself in breaking the glass.

Luverne and Its Jug Trade. LUVERNE, Oct. 24.—This place has suddenly developed into the center of the "jug" trade of prohibition Iowa and South Dakota. This place is so convenient to both states that an extensive business could be carried on with small outlay for freights. The license is $1,000, and at the present time there are only two saloons in the place, and one of these would have to go if it was not for the jug trade of Iowa. Luverne has a population of about 200 people. During last week several saloonkeepers of Sioux Falls have been negotiating for buildings and property. Among the party is a prominent brewer, who intends to move his plant to this city. The influx of whiskey men has been so great here during the last few days that the people are becoming alarmed for the morals of the town.

Another Winona Fire. WINONA, Oct. 24.—L. C. Porter's store and flouring mill, having a capacity of 1200 barrels, with 350,000 bushels of wheat and 1000 barrels of flour, burned to the ground yesterday afternoon. The loss is $125,000; well insured. The fire caught from the smokestack.

Forest Fires in Douglas County. FERRIS FALLS, Oct. 24.—Serious prairie fires are raging in Douglas county, which have devastated farms. Many settlers have lost all their hay and some have lost their buildings.

Picked Up Around the State.

One inch of snow covered the ground at Lake City Tuesday morning.

Richard Moorhouse of Cannon Falls, was fatally injured by a threshing machine.

Henry Moore of Milaca, was thrown from his pony and dragged to death by his feet catching in the stirrup.

August Smith was found dead on the floor of Fritz Moy's saloon at Howard Lake, Minn., Monday morning. The cause of death was drinking too much liquor.

Albert Molitor and three confederates are under arrest at Sauk Center on a charge of robbing various stores and residences.

A convict named Lamers, while employed near the lake yesterday afternoon at Stillwater, suddenly leaped into the water and swam to an adjacent island. He had six years to serve.

Alonso A. Capron dropped dead of apoplexy on a public street in Stillwater. He went there in 1883, and when the rebellion occurred he was the first to enlist in Company B, First Minnesota.

A ten-year-old daughter of T. R. Rodale, living near Wells, accidentally set fire to her bed, and was burned to death. The flames spread to the barn and granary, consuming 8000 bushels of wheat and several head of live stock.

I am authorized to sell a fine double corner in Endion very cheap if taken at once. Owner writes me he must have some money.

DEVOTIONS AT A LYNCHING.

A North Carolina Murderer Swung On With a Hymn Accompaniment.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 24.—Some curious facts in connection with the recent lynching of young Robert Berrier for the murder of his mother-in-law, near Lexington, N. C., have just come to light. A man who witnessed the hanging says Berrier was taken from the jail at half-past 7 and immediately carried to the outskirts of the town, where a large oak tree. Here the mob stopped and asked the prisoner if he was ready to die. Berrier said he would be if he knew he would meet his wife and babe in heaven. The mob then informed him that he would be allowed time to prepare for death.

About this time a drummer who was in town came upon the scene and asked to be allowed to pray with the condemned man. His request was granted, and he knelt down by the side of Berrier and prayed fervently that God would save his soul. During the prayer many heavy "Amens," and such responses as "Lord grant it," etc., went up from the mob. For more than three hours the scene continued, and the prisoner was kept in a state of great excitement. A few minutes before midnight Berrier expressed his willingness to die. He then placed upon a horse with a rope about his neck, and then, as an appropriate hymn was raised, the horse was led from under him, and the body was left dangling in the air.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE STATE.

Northern Wisconsin Counties Want $50,000 From the State Treasury.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 24.—Just at this period, when the state administration is bending every energy toward making both ends meet in a financial as well as a political way, there looms up a claim for $50,000 from the state treasury. The history of the claim is substantially as follows: The legislature of 1879 enacted a law which provided that for ten years the land of the North Wisconsin company should be exempt from taxation. The object of the enactment was to aid in securing the completion and equipment of the road from Lake St. Croix to Bayfield. The road was built and equipped and is now a part of the Omaha system. In order to bring the road under the provisions of the act passed in 1879, the lands of the company were located should not be exempted from the income tax, but were entitled to in the taxes, the act also provided that 5 per cent of the gross annual earnings of the road for ten years should go to the county annually. It is held, now by the counties in which the lands lie that about $50,000 is in the state treasury, belonging to counties which have northwestern railroad lands within their borders, accumulated under this act, and that under the act it should go to the several counties.

"HONEST JOHN."

He Will Let His Old Sunday School Run the Road.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Bethany Sunday school will miss the well-known features of Postmaster-General Wainwright in Philadelphia. Sunday school. Over ten years he has not failed to meet with his religious friends, young and old, within the walls of the Bethany street Sunday school. He has been a member of the school since he was a child. Now, however, that he has become a minister, he has decided to stop at breaking off his department work on Saturday afternoons and rushing to the Quaker city in order to avoid traveling on the Sunday morn a little too much for him. Hence he has decided to allow Bethany to run on its own hook until his term as a statesman at the end of the year. Then (D. V.) he will be found doing business at the old stand, and retailing gossip truths without money and without price. The announcement will be made at the regular meeting on Sunday next, and the farewell to "Honest John" will be the nature of a sentimental oration.

A FARMERS' COMBINE

That is Expected to Spread Throughout the West and the East Country.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 24.—A movement that is likely to spread to all parts of the country was inaugurated at a convention here today. It is a combination of farmers and dairymen for the purpose of regulating the wholesale price of milk. The milk exchange, and dealing direct with the transportation companies, in order that the farmers may secure the largest possible return.

Although at present inter-state and confined to the East, it is intended to extend the organization to the West and make it a national one. The railroads in this section are co-operating with the farmers, and have agreed upon a schedule of special rates for the transportation of their products.

FIVE BURNED TO DEATH.

Terrible Fire Causing Disaster on Lake Ontario.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 24.—The steamer Quinte was burned tonight near Oswego. Five lives were lost, and probably more. Following is a list so far as known of the dead:

Capt. CHRISTIE.

Cyrus CHRISTIE, mother of the captain.

John CHRISTIE, the captain's son.

A lady's maid.

The identity of the fire is unknown. The boat is a total loss.

Wooling Wants Statehood.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Francis E. Warren, governor of Wyoming territory, in his annual report puts in an earnest plea in behalf of statehood for that territory. He estimates the population of the territory at 95,000 to 105,000, as against 916 in 1870. The total assessed valuation of all property in 1888 was $31,431,405, against $11,867,344 in 1880 and $6,924,537 in 1870. These figures represent from one-fourth to one-third the actual valuation. The governor urges a more liberal policy in the matter of surveying public lands, and says that under present restrictions it is impossible to protect the forests against the depredations of unscrupulous men, while the development of the coal and oil lands is retarded. The aggregate number of acres disposed of during the last year under the public land laws, including selections by the railroads, was 301,375.

A Reception to Mrs. Logan.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Mrs. John A. Logan, who arrived here from Washington this morning, left for Evanston at noon to attend a public reception to be tendered her by the John A. Logan Post and residents of that place this evening. Special trains are to be run from this city and Milwaukee for the occasion.

THE GREAT COMBINES.

No Doubt That The Railroads Will Be Formed Into Great Trusts.

Duluth Wins a Decision, Rates and General Railroad News.

CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—There can be no doubt any longer that the reports regarding the contemplated consolidation of various railroads in this country into half-a-dozen large systems are correct, and that before the end of 1890 various consolidations, or trust schemes, will have taken definite shape.

Fresh evidence is obtained every day to prove that the reported Great Northern-Southwestern combination will be consummated before long. It is equally certain that a great Northern combination, comprising Manitoba, Burlington, Canadian Pacific, Soo line and other Northwestern interests, will be carried out. President Hill of the Manitoba openly admits that such is his object. It was first thought that the Union Pacific would join the great Northern combination, but it is now believed that the object it has evidently been abandoned. Indications now point strongly to a consolidation of the Union Pacific with the Vanderbilt interests.

Rates Will Take a Leap.

The outlook for the winter in the matter of freight and passenger rates is as uncertain as ever. No railroad agent in the Northwest will guarantee a given rate over ten days, and will hardly do that. "While the interstate commerce law is responsible for the present condition of freight and passenger rates," say railroad managers themselves, "it is also the cause of the present state of affairs."

"While I would not dare to give a prediction regarding this winter's rates, yet I believe a rate war is on the tapis in both departments of transportation; and the Zenith City Short Line will have a big part to play in the fight. The war will begin just as soon as navigation closes, for so long as the boats can run it is useless for St. Paul-Chicago lines to try to buck Duluth. An usual, the Burlington and Northern, the Soo, and the Zenith City lines will be the roads to make it uncomfortable for the others."

"The passenger war will begin first, has already begun, for I noticed in The Herald last evening that the Eastern and Western roads were in a dispute, being a heavy stockholder in the Canadian Pacific, Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic and the Eastern Minnesota railways. In appearance he is intensely English, being short, of heavy build, florid complexion, his face adorned with the truly British 'mutton-chops.' In manner is very unassuming and is well liked by Gladstonians for his liberal opinions."

Duluth Wins as Usual.

Chairman Walker of the Interstate Commerce Railway association has given his decision on the proposition to reduce coal rates to interior points in the Northwestern states. The result of the recommendation was made that difficulties between the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Chicago and Northwestern roads concerning rates on coal to various points in Dakota should be adjusted by the abandonment on the part of the Chicago and Northwestern of their right to a special rate for coal to compete with direct routes from Duluth at their junction points with such lines. This recommendation was accepted. The Chicago and Northwestern withdrew its tariffs from Duluth, and the St. Paul restored its Milwaukee tariffs. Subsequently the St. Paul company came forward with the proposition which laid at the foundation of its former action. It desired to establish a new rate on coal from Chicago and Milwaukee to the interior of Iowa, Minnesota, Dakota and Wisconsin, as prevails from Duluth. The majority objected, whereupon the St. Paul company came forward with the proposition which laid at the foundation of its former action. IMPROVING THE HILL.

Highland Company to Begin Grading Streets Next Week.

The Advantages of Topographic Platting and How It Is Done.

The Highland Improvement company is getting itself ready for business rapidly. A large amount of the company's 1200 acres of land on top and back of the hill has been surveyed for topographical platting and a considerable part of it is plotted. Work will begin the first of next week grading streets, and will be pushed by a large force, and in about two months the first division of Highland, 250 acres in section 28, consisting of the north half of southwest quarter, and the southwest of northeast quarter, will be put on the market.

Work on grading will begin at the corner of Ninth street and Seventh avenue west, the lower edge of the company's property on what was known as the Chiver addition, and continue through the First division. At the point of beginning will be the upper end of the incline road, which will run up Seventh avenue west, from Superior to Ninth street. Grading will be easy for several reasons, and the company will be enabled to do a very large amount of work at comparatively slight expense. In the first place, the soil is gravelly and without much rock. In the second, the topographical platting permits the free laying out of curves and winding roads to keep out of the way of steep grades and bad localities, an advantage that can easily be seen by noting the straight streets of Duluth itself and the ease with which many of the most treacherous roads could have been avoided and the city made many fold more beautiful as well.

This topographical surveying is comparatively a new feature in Duluth, though the Herald more than a year ago earnestly advocated the system. It has so far been put into effect in but one addition, Brookside at the West End, where the advantage of the system can be seen on a comparatively small scale. When the 1200 acres of the Highland company's property is all laid out and graded, the possibilities of a regard to topography in laying out a residence section can be readily seen. The system requires a large amount of work, and for the past four months there have been corps of engineers at work subdividing and getting the contour of these hill properties, the work moreover, is nowhere near done.

The entire property to be platted was first laid out in blocks 100x300 feet for convenience in platting, levels were run at different elevations, each line the same vertical distance apart, but horizontally close together or far apart as the land was steep or more nearly level. All the lines were carefully measured both as to distance and length, and the results of the entire work transferred to paper. Streets and lots were then staked out to correspond to the plan. No attempt has been made to follow straight lines or make right angles, so the streets are winding and the lots of varying shapes and sizes. No work of importance will be done on the incline road until next spring, though many contracts will be let during the winter. The road will be the same in style as those at Cincinnati, where accidents have occurred the past week, but will be fitted with the safety appliances missing in the old Walnut Hills road, on which the most fearful accidents have occurred. It will be impossible for such an accident to take place here.

AT TEMPLE OPERA.

There was a still larger audience at Temple Opera last night than on either preceding night, to see Miss Coglian and her company in Jocelyn, and the play was given with a spirit that was appreciated.

There is going to be a big audience tonight to see Miss Coglian as "Fog" Wellington in "The Sign of the Cross" in Charles Rade's brilliant comedy of that name, which Miss Coglian has herself adapted. The house is sure to be crowded to the very large capacity of seats in any criterion. In many respects it will be the best entertainment of the engagement.

Mrs. George S. Knight's program for next Tuesday and Wednesday nights includes Beauty Hess, Hoop-la and My Lord in Livery on the first night, and Lucky Number, On Guard and Crazed on last night.

Temple Opera is to be occupied on Saturday night with a public meeting in favor of the park system.

Acting Manager Philip Simmonds of the Rose Coglian company has written an open letter to the Duluth public praising most highly on behalf of Miss Coglian and her company, Temple Opera, and the musicals and plays of Dr. Haycock, as well of thanking him for his courtesy and kindness to the company. He also congratulates the city on the orchestra and the management.

Manager Haycock is well satisfied with the receipts for the Coglian engagement, for the book show already enough money to bring the total sale up to $4500.

Excepting the Irish jig, the most interesting feature of the program is in which Miss Coglian will be seen this evening, in the "King George Minuet," which she and Mr. Sullivan dance.

WEDDING BELLS.

They sang Merrily for several Duluth couples last night. A number of weddings occurred on the evening of yesterday. All were of well known people in Duluth society and all were remarkably pleasant and pretty weddings.

At St. Paul yesterday afternoon occurred the marriage of State Senator Almon J. Whitman of the city to Miss Julia Nettleton, and of Mr. Waldo G. Paine to Miss Louise Nettleton. Both young ladies are very well known in Duluth society from many visits with friends here, and both have many friends in the city. The weddings were private, only relatives and intimates being present, and there were no bridesmaids in the ceremony in both cases being simple. Cut flowers, ferns and potted plants added much to the attractiveness of the already beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Nettleton, and the bride wore a magnificent gown.

Among those present were Mrs. Whitman of Danville, N. Y., mother of Mr. A. J. Whitman; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Jr.; Messrs. E. W. Herrick, D. J. Vanderlip, and S. R. Willard of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ray, Judge and Mrs. J. D. Ensign, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Markell, Mrs. R. C. Ray and the Misses Collins, Ensign and Markell of Duluth. After the ceremony and wedding dinner reception were held, at which many invited guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Whitman left at 7:30 last evening for New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Paine for Stockholm, where they will reside, at 8 o'clock.

Mr. H. S. Moody and Hattie K. Emerson were married at the residence of the bride's mother 102 East Second street last evening, in the presence of a few intimate friends, by Rev. E. M. Noyes. The pretty young bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emerson, with Malcolm and Nellie Sinclair as bridesmaids and maid of honor, while Geo. T. Hughes acted as best man. A collation was served after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Moody at once went to Lester Park, which will be their future home. The young people are known in Duluth and have the congratulations of a large circle of friends. Mr. H. B. White of West Duluth and Miss Nellie Bronson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bronson, were married last night at the residence of the bride's parents, 2516 West Michigan street, by Rev. E. M. Noyes officiating. Many near friends were present and the young people received warm congratulations and many gifts.

WEST END NOTES.

At the annual meeting of the West End Building and Loan association, held Tuesday evening, the following officers and directors were elected: President, H. C. Helin; vice-president, T. O. Hall; secretary, S. A. Siverson; treasurer, E. L. Johnson; attorney, H. S. Lord; directors, T. B. Perry, John Campbell, J. W. Merrill, J. L. Peterson, J. J. Wheeler, H. H. Bell and C. O. Thompson. President Helin says that the affairs of the association are in a very prosperous condition. The West End Open House will meet for the first rehearsal Saturday evening at the residence of Miss Rosier in the Glen. Their play is the "Little Tycoon."

Miss Struckmeyer organized a dancing club last night at Sven hall. The first lesson will be given Saturday night. There was a larger attendance than ever before last night at the Catholic fair in St. Clements hall. A good many articles were sold. This evening there will be a necktie social which promises to be very interesting.

T. M. Erickson has opened a feed store in the building formerly occupied by him as a grocery store.

Work on the street car extension is going on rapidly, one block of track having already been laid.

The Big Reservoir.

At the new reservoir of the Gas and Water company at Seventh street and Fifteenth avenue east, work is now being done. All excavating has been finished, the connection made with the mains and the pump house from the bottom, and now are now at work putting in the concrete bottom and sides, of much the same quality as the foundation of Superior street. A large quantity of sand and out stone is at hand for the lining of the upper part of the reservoir. It is expected to get water into it before winter sets in, when all need of the present small and unsafe water holder will be done away with.

CITY BRIEFS.

The front of the burned Pendleton building was left to collapse, and the building passed by to the city. Telephone wires have been badly ground up by the fall of the building. A large amount of flour is being shipped out from Duluth, and the quantity in store will be lessened materially.

A large and nearly white, grouted considerable amount on Superior street last night. He appeared to be a man of about 40 years of age, and was wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. He was walking towards the corner of the building, and was talking to a woman who was standing near the corner. He was wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. The front of the burned Pendleton building was left to collapse, and the building passed by to the city. Telephone wires have been badly ground up by the fall of the building. A large amount of flour is being shipped out from Duluth, and the quantity in store will be lessened materially.

A large and nearly white, grouted considerable amount on Superior street last night. He appeared to be a man of about 40 years of age, and was wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. He was walking towards the corner of the building, and was talking to a woman who was standing near the corner. He was wearing a dark suit and a light-colored shirt. MR. PARNELL MAY ARGUE

The Great Irish Advocate May Speak Before the Parnell Commission.

Another Russian Conspiracy-- General Foreign News of Interest.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Judge Hannen and his colleagues of the Parnell commission looked all the better for their vacation when they took their seats in the dingy badly lighted court this morning. There was a good representation of the general public, although none of the Irish parliamentary contingent put in an appearance at the morning session. Despite the fact that upon the adjournment in July the justices announced that no more evidence would be heard unless it was of an exceptional character, it was stated at the opening of the proceedings that the commission would consider any additional list of proposed witnesses for either side if presented in writing. This announcement took the Parnellites by surprise, and at the request of Mr. Sexton a recess of two hours was ordered.

It is given out that the commission has about decided to issue a subpoena for Henry Campbell, private secretary to Mr. Parnell, who is supposed to have positive knowledge of the custody of the missing books of the latter league. During the week facts have come to the knowledge of the commissioners which indicate very strongly that Campbell is in possession of valuable information, and between contempt for contempt of court and the making of a clean breast of it it is believed that he will prefer the latter alternative.

Sir Henry James said today that his speech in summing up would not occupy more than ten days, or eighty hours, in all. Mr. Sexton will argue his own case, and it is just possible that Mr. Parnell may come into court and be heard in his own behalf. According to present indications, the report of the commission will be completed before Christmas.

Again Russian Conspiracy.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—The widespread conspiracy of a political nature has been discovered in Southern Russia which for extent and daring of scope is about the most serious of the kind that has lately been brought to light. A great number of students and military men, who are members of a revolutionary character. Their idea was to profit by the defeat of Russia in the war which is expected to occur between this country and Austria. What they intended to do was to obtain the Russian constitution and legislative independence under Austrian supremacy. Arrests are being made and the police are trying to ferret out all the local branches of the conspiracy.

Anonymous Under Arrest.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The Russian police at Odessa have arrested two men, said to be Americans, charged with circulating large numbers of leaflets, and dangerously forged 25-ruble bills of the Bank of Russia. Two packages, purported to be bales of cotton cloth, which arrived from New York, were consigned to one of these men, and on examination by the customs officials were found to contain a large quantity of leaflets and a number of forged bills. The two men are being held in custody, and the police are trying to ferret out all the local branches of the conspiracy.

Swore Death for Princes.

BERLIN, Oct. 24.—Klaiber, the man who made an attempt to assassinate Prince William while the latter was driving to church at Ludwigsburg, has been examined by physicians who pronounced him sane and sane. He is now being held in custody, and the police are trying to ferret out all the local branches of the conspiracy.

No More Boulangist Finks.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Count Dillon says he resigned the secretaryship of the Boulangist party in 1902, and has since left. He also says that if he should take his seat in the chamber of deputies he would not participate in purely political discussions. It is reported that the majority of the Boulangist deputies will join the republican groups.

WORLD OF COMMERCE.

A Quiet Waiting Market on 'Change With Dull Futures.

Receipts Still Heavy, Showing Good Movement Both Ways.

Receipts of wheat continue very large today's record, both of quantity taken into elevators and cars on track, being most satisfactory. It is expected that the month of October will show receipts of 800 to 900 cars, a very good showing, but hardly equal to that of September, 1888, when 10,170 cars were received. The elevators are handling wheat as fast as it comes in, and there is not the slightest detention of cars.

Wheat opened strong this morning at $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ above yesterday's close. The market was a firm but a slow and waiting one during the first hour. During the last hour it was fairly active, at steadily declining figures, and closed weak with sellers of everything at $\frac{1}{4}$ below the opening quotations. Following were the ruling and closing prices of the session:

Cash No. 1 hard opened $\frac{1}{4}$ above yesterday's close, it was offered down to $\frac{1}{8}$, where it closed weak. No. 1 northern opened late and very firm at $\frac{1}{2}$ advance with good demand; it broke to $\frac{1}{4}$ and closed dull and easy with sellers at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 2 northern opened $\frac{1}{4}$ higher and sold freely and closed with sellers at $\frac{1}{4}$. No. 3 wheat small sales early at $\frac{1}{2}$ and closed nominal $\frac{1}{4}$ lower at $\frac{1}{4}$ nominal. October No. 1 northern wheat sold early and largely at $\frac{1}{4}$, and closed dull and easy with sellers at $\frac{1}{4}$. December wheat opened $\frac{1}{4}$ advance at $\frac{1}{4}$, at which figure considerable changed hands early and declined to $\frac{1}{4}$, where it closed easy. May wheat opened $\frac{1}{4}$ higher at $\frac{1}{4}$, and closed weak with sellers at $\frac{1}{4}$ and $\frac{1}{4}$ bid.

Chicago Close.
CHICAGO, Oct. 24, 1:15 p. m. close.—Wheat weak and lower: October, 75; December, 74; May, 83; Corn steady: October, 90; November, 89; May, 87.

The Minneapolis Close.
MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 24.—Closing quotations: No. 1 hard, October, 75; November, 74; December, 73; May, 84; on track, 72. No. 1 northern, October, 75; November, 74; December, 73; May, 84; on track, 72. No. 2 northern, October, 70; November, 69; December, 68; May, 77; on track, 70.

The Mills.
Northwestern Miller: There is not much variation in operations and the amount of flour made last week was about the same as the week before. The aggregate output of twenty-one mills was 10,000 bbls, against 10,000 bbls the preceding week, and 10,000 for the time in 1888. The same mills are in operation, producing at the rate of 25,000 bbls per twenty-four hours. The eleven engines in use are furnishing power for the current output. It is generally expected that as soon as severe weather sets in, the mills which rely upon water for power will be rendered helpless. A declining market has had the usual effect of stopping trading in flour. About every firm is overstocked and there is a desire to get well cleaned up before the close of navigation, and the bad condition of the water power here is aggravated by cold weather. Flour prices are quite lower, some parties making more of a reduction than others. With baker's well sold ahead, the sales for export are light. The inquiry has been for the past day or two. Shipments of flour were very heavy last week, exceeding the production slightly. Direct exports of flour for the week were 63,200 bbls, against 56,000 the week before.

The Industrial Exchange.
At the meeting held at the rooms, the second story of the Johnson building, 319 West Superior street, the members of the Women's Industrial exchange made their final arrangements to begin work. The rooms will open Nov. 1 and lunch will be provided daily. Various articles, the work of deft fingers, will be for sale, and orders will be taken for work of different classes.

MARINE MATTERS.

The City of Duluth Ashore, at the Ship Yard, Notes.

Tuesday the steamer City of Duluth ran upon a reef near Baraga, Lake Superior. In order to get her off 300 tons of cement had to be jetted, and considerable miscellaneous freight of greater value removed upon lighters. The steamer was only slightly injured. The keel and frame of the steel ship 104 is now fairly started, and work from now on will be done rapidly. A new machinery shed has just been completed, and the old sheds have been repaired and made more secure so that work can go on easily in stormy weather.

J. S. Dunham's steel tug, soon to be launched at Chicago, has a concave bottom and a cast steel fan tail fender. She is 76 feet long over all, with 17 feet beam and 10 feet hold.

The damage sustained by the steamer C. J. Kershaw at Copper harbor is being repaired at Chicago. Among other things she requires a new rudder stock.

That Little Tickling

In your throat, which makes you cough once in a while and keeps you constantly clearing your throat, arises from catarrh. Kansas catarrh is a constitutional disease, the ordinary cough medicines do not fail to hit the spot. What you need is a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Many people who have taken this medicine for scurvy, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and other troubles, have been surprised that it should cure this troublesome cough. But to know the actual cause of the cough is to solve the mystery. Many cases of consumption can be traced back to the neglect of some such slight affection as this. Consumption can be controlled in its early stages, and the effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in purifying the blood, building up the general health, and expelling the scrofulous taint which is the cause of catarrh and consumption, has restored to perfect health many persons on whom this dreaded disease seemed to have a firm hold.

A New Style of Cars.

The Northern Pacific has just received twenty new colonist sleepers from Barney, Smith & Co. that are models of beauty, convenience and comfort, and contain many improvements over the ordinary colonist sleeper, or so-called tourist car, generally in use.

Each car has fourteen sections, with gentlemen's toiletroom in one end, and the ladies' room, supplied with marble-topped washstand and force pump, in the other. In one end of the car is a Baker fireproof heater, which heats the car by means of hot water conducted through pipes. In the opposite end of the car is a cooking range surrounded by good kitchen facilities. Opposite this range is a twenty-gallon cooler for drinking water, also a large tank holding seventy gallons of water for general use.

These cars are finished in natural woods, ash, maple and butternut, beautifully polished, and at night are lighted up with eight Acme lamps exactly similar to those in use on Pullman sleepers. The sections are divided by sliding head-boards, effecting a privacy not possible in the present style of cars where the sections are separated by a wire netting. An ingenious arrangement of the seats enable them to be extended flat or with head rest when prepared for bedding, and under each seat is a box in which can be stored bedding or small baggage. In each section there is also provided a movable table similar to those in use on Pullman cars, which is extremely convenient for many purposes. All cars are provided with curtain rods.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Northern Pacific employs a porter to look after these sleepers, all holders of second-class Montana and Pacific coast tickets are allowed to use them free of charge. The Northern Pacific has a greater number of these sleepers in service than any other transcontinental line, their total equipment now amounting to sixty-three cars. It is clear that in providing for the comfort of the traveling public, the Northern Pacific, with its new vestibuled dining and sleeping cars and superior accommodations for second-class passengers, leads all its competitors.

More Money, Clothing, Coal and Provisions to Go at Once.

The Herald has several times made brief mention of the terribly destitute condition of the farmers in Nelson and Ramsey counties, North Dakota. Until yesterday, however, no organized effort had been made to send assistance to the localities where there is suffering.

The Duluth Board of Trade, to which no special call has been made, yesterday appropriated $50 more, while several hundred dollars more will doubtless be raised today or tomorrow. The board also made an appeal on its members to give clothing, shoes, provisions, etc., and already a large quantity of valuable material has been sent to the wholesale stores of the Wells-Sloat company, which will receive, care for and forward all contributions.

As yet the Chamber of Commerce has taken no formal action, though it has called for aid. At next Tuesday's meeting the subject will be brought up, and a committee appointed to make a survey of the local coal companies have been interviewed and have expressed a desire to send fuel, it is probable that half a dozen or more cars of coal will be forwarded early next week. Besides this there will be sent flour and general provisions, and Duluth can rest assured that she has nobly responded to the call of the starving.

There is evidently no exaggeration in the reports sent out from the northwestern states. A private letter sent last night stated that many farmers in Ramsey and Nelson counties have not tasted meat, except that of hogs and chickens they had caught, for six months, and that their stock was dying of starvation.

But while the calls for aid have been only answered by this city and while St. Paul also is beginning to do something, the Dakotas themselves are doing nothing and the damage to the new states caused by this heartless negligence of their own people, and by the unpleasant advertising Dakota will receive, is incalculable. The suffering section is small, near it are parts of the new states where the crops have never been better than now, in south Dakota are flourishing cities that could alleviate the distress without trouble, while the government of North Dakota could better afford to assist ten times the number in distress than to allow the unpleasant fact that have lately met, have shown surprising negligence and a lack of regard for the honor of their own state by letting outsiders feed their hungry and clothe their ragged.

"PEG, WOFFINGTON."

Miss Coghlan Hints Aid to Duluth—Mistake and Amusement Notes—Miss Rose Coghlan departed from Duluth this morning at 10:30 o'clock for Eau Claire, after a four-night engagement at Temple Opera, which was successful and pleasing enough to satisfy the ambition of even as pleasing and versatile an actress as she. The total receipts for the four nights were $4700, of which $1750 is to be credited to last night. On the whole Miss Coghlan pleased Duluth people, who were in a particularly easy mood to be pleased, and she has indeed left many friends here, as she hoped in her charming little speech of farewell last night. She will be remembered as "Stephanie" and as "Peg Woffington" rather than as "Coghlan," though the merits of the play she opened in, and is making the feature of her tour this season, have been recognized. As "Peg Woffington" last night Miss Coghlan had the good will of the largest audience that has as yet been in the theatre, and she and her company won rapturous applause. She allowed the minutes to be repeated, but after the jig she smilingly declined, in pantomime, to repeat, but as soon as she could be heard made a little speech which she had modeled on the most approved plan. She spoke of the pleasure it had given her to visit this city and open the beautiful new theatre. She has driven over our famous boulevard and is convinced that Duluth is the most progressive city she ever visited.

The other members of the company did excellent work last night, especially Mr. Sullivan as "Sir Charles Pomander," Mr. Dunn as "Colley Clibber," Mr. Webster as "Triplets," Mr. Edwin as "Spartan" and Mr. Leonard as "Ernest Vane."

Entertained by the Elks.

Mr. J. H. Sullivan, Miss Rose Coghlan, the leading man, and Mr. Henry Hoyte, who last evening, in Peg Woffington, took the part of "Colander," were entertained by the Duluth Elks with a supper at Boyle's last evening. There was a jolly little party, with present, and a song, a story, or a recitation by each one made the hours pass pleasantly. Mr. Sullivan entertained his hosts by reciting "The Bluebird," "Daisies," afterwards giving "Fra di Giocano." Mr. Hoyte made new admirers with his own version of the "Water Mill." Before the party broke up Mr. Hoyte was elected an honorary member of the Duluth Lodge of Elks.

Another Treat in Store.

The program which the Boston Quintet club will give on Nov. 6, at the second Mozart concert, will include instrumental pieces by Svendsen, Popp, Tchaikovsky, Dukak, Wieniawski, Schumann, Gillet, Lantz and Popp, and vocal selections by Gounod and Mallet. The company consists of John F. Rhodes, solo violinist; Paul Mendel, violin; Adolph Burosa, flute; Armin Roeker, viola soloist; Louis Blumenberg, violoncello soloist, and Miss Annie Carpenter, soprano soloist.

Temple Opera Engagements.

The engagements for Temple Opera for the next two weeks are: Mrs. George S. Knight, Oct. 29 and 30; "Natural Gas" Nov. 1 and 2; "Bunch of Keys," Nov. 4 and 5; "The Stowaway," with two genuine burglars as features, the second week in November.

The New York Life Insurance Company sure to erect a fine block.

The officials of the New York Life Insurance company who arrived in the city Wednesday evening, left by special train yesterday afternoon. They will, however, return to Duluth before going back to New York.

"I am not at liberty to say anything absolutely definite regarding our proposed building to be erected in Duluth," said one of the party to a Herald reporter. "However, I think I may say that we are satisfied with the amount of insurance that has been guaranteed by the business men of Duluth. The matter now only awaits the guarantee of very little more insurance to the company to assure Duluth one of the finest buildings in the Northwest, and one costing more than double the money in any business structure in the city."

WEST END NOTES.

In consequence of last night's rain the netlike social at the Catholic fair was postponed until next Saturday evening.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONRY

Important Session of the Lodge-Benevolent Orders Meet.

Clan Stewart's Doings, Sons of America, Lodge News.

One of the most notable events in the history of Scottish Masonry in Duluth occurred last night in the visit of a party of Masonic dignitaries to North Star Lodge of Perfection of Duluth. Among the party visiting the city were C. H. Benton, 33rd degree, honorary member of the supreme council; A. E. Higbee, 32nd degree, preceptor of "A. E. Ames," preceptor of Kaulah, of Minneapolis; A. L. Levering, 32nd degree, venerable master of "Excelsior" Lodge of Perfection of Minneapolis; J. Nash, 32nd degree; Messrs. W. A. Spalding, J. H. Rowell, Charles Jewett, W. E. Lennox, and several others.

They were met at the depot and escorted to the Spalding, where Manager Emerson had prepared a planked white-oak supper, which called for several favorable remarks concerning Duluth hotels. After arriving at the Masonic hall a lodge of Elect and Perfect Masons was opened in full form, and the fourteenth degree conferred on Bro. J. H. Logie, S. O. Watkins, M. D. of Northern Pacific Junction; A. W. McDowell of Cloquet; J. D. Snyder, A. Snyder, G. A. French, J. M. Smith, J. K. Persons, W. A. Holgate, J. B. Cotton, T. H. Martin of Thompson, H. P. Tooman, F. P. Thompson of Cloquet, M. J. Davis, Frank Lantz, the venerable master, T. W. Hugo, 32nd degree, in the East.

Immediately succeeding the degree work, a reception was served, and the following "healths," drunk with the ancient Masonic honors:

"The government of the country," responded to by Judge J. E. West.

"The venerable Council and Grand Committee," responded to by C. H. Benton and H. E. Benfield.

"The venerable bodies of the York Rite and their presiding officers," responded to by W. G. French and H. E. Benfield.

"The memory of brethren of the degree whose labors have ceased during the present Masonic year," which was drunk in silence, the roll being read by C. H. Benton.

"The Visiting Brethren, who honor us with their presence," responded to by J. H. Logie.

"The Wards and other officers of this lodge," responded to by J. H. Logie.

"The private members of the lodge, from the oldest and gravestones of the lodge of 1884," responded to by H. E. Benfield.

"Masonic wives, sweethearts, mothers, sisters, daughters, and all near and dear," responded to by J. H. Logie.

"All Masons and Masonic bodies of all rites and degrees," answered by the presiding officer of the lodge.

One pleasant feature of the occasion was the playing of the organ by the artist Ver Brock of the venerable grand commander of the Southern jurisdiction, Gen. Albert Pike in the East, overlooking the brethren, the likeness being so perfect that it seemed to beam the inspiration of the revered original over the proceedings. The occasion was one longed for by the brethren, and the visitors were loud in their praises of the work, appointments, and hospitality of Duluth Masons. The visitors left on the St. Paul and Duluth train, which was held until 12 o'clock for them.

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of the Clan Stewart last night. George McKenzies was in the chair. The Clan is making great preparations for a Halloween social, Oct. 31. An entertainment, consisting of a play, recitations and musical selections will be given, followed by a dance.

On Tuesday evening next the Willis A. Corcoran post will hold a camp fire at their hall in the Odd Fellows' building. An interesting feature of the occasion, outside the usual "campfire" will be an address given by Judge O. P. Stearns. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to charity. The camp fire is to be held at 8 o'clock, and will be a permanent one for this fall and winter season.

The National Fraternal congress will commence its annual session at the Hotel Vendome, Boston, on Nov. 12. Twenty-six of the most prominent benevolent fraternal organizations, having a membership in the United States and Dominion of Canada of over 1,000,000 will be represented.

The West End Knights of Pythias hall was one of the pleasing social events of the past week.

Supper Chamberlains Ward informally visited the Knights of Pythias last Monday evening. The Uniform Rank escorted the visitor from the Spalding to Castle hall, where a most informal reception took place, most of the Knights of this city and visiting Pythians from Superior attending.

HO FOR HUDSON'S BAY.

Scheme for a Railroad From Sault Ste. Marie to Hudson's Bay.

A Peculiar Muddle at Crookston--Other Railroad News.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 26.—[Special]—That the newly-incorporated Sault Ste. Marie and Hudson Bay railway has much more behind it than mere wind is shown by the following exhaustive legal publication made here today:

"Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the parliament of Canada at the next session thereof for an act to incorporate the Sault Ste. Marie and Hudson Bay Railway company, with power to construct, equip and operate a line of railway from a point at or near the town of Sault Ste. Marie, in the district of Algoma, to a northerly and easterly direction to a point on the line of the Canadian Pacific railway between Dalton station and Ridout station; thence northerly and easterly to Moose factory, or some other point on James Bay or Hudson's Bay, with the following powers:

1. To purchase, charter, sell and navigate in connection with said railway, steam and other vessels, and to mortgage and sell and dispose of same.

2. To acquire, purchase, mortgage and sell and operate coal, iron and other mines.

3. To receive bonds and grant of land.

4. To issue bonds, promissory and other securities, and convey, to lease, to or amalgamate with, the Canadian Pacific Railway company, or the Grand Trunk Railway company.

5. To enter into agreements with any railway company in the state of Michigan for the use by each of the roads of the other.

6. To acquire the right to use, or running powers, over the bridge across the Sault Ste. Marie river.

7. To construct and operate a line of telegraph and telephone.

8. To be authorized to project the line of this railroad look forward to a sale or lease to the Canadian Pacific or the Grand Trunk, and also desire to acquire the right to use the line of the Canadian Pacific at this point. It is easy to see that the road when built will probably be a cut-off for the Canadian Pacific. It is claimed that immense coal fields have been found 200 miles north of here, which the new road will develop. It will offer a fair competition to the Hudson's Bay line to the south. Heavy capital has been interested here, and the road will unquestionably be built.

NORTHWESTERN COMPLICATIONS
A Conference in New York Today to Adjust the Troubles.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Chairman Fairbairn of the Western Freight association, and Chairman Blackford of the Central Traffic association, are in the city and a meeting is being held with Chairman Hayden of the Trunk Line association, to decide how a stable tariff can best be maintained on the Chicago basis to Northwestern points. A strong effort is being made to establish a proper relationship between the all-rail lines, lake and rail, and the Canadian lines, which in conjunction with the " Soo " line have been the principal cause of the present demoralization in rates to St. Paul, Minneapolis, and other Northwestern points. A short time ago the Northwestern lines made a standstill in the Chicago trunk line and Central Traffic associations to promote between New York and St. Paul in order to offset the Canadian encroachments and low lake rates, and the latter refused to do so, and the present conference aims to conciliate all the conflicting interests. If possible reach an equitable adjustment of business as far as can be done without an association. The Canadian Pacific, " Soo " line, Burlington and Northern, Grand Trunk, Central Vermont, New England Association, and the Lake Superior transportation lines, are represented. Much depends upon the attitude of the Canadian Pacific and Burlington and Northern. The former, it is said, will not consent to make the same rates via the " Soo " as made via Chicago, and the latter refused to restore rates unless the Canadian Pacific takes that step. The Burlington and Northern also demands a differential rate of ten cents first-class, and proportionately on other classes, and the other Chicago St. Paul lines are not inclined to grant such a concession.

A Peculiar Muddle.
CROOKSTON, Minn., Oct. 26.—Great excitement prevails here over the contest between the Manitoba railroad and the Duluth, Crookston Northern company.

The latter is building a road into this city, but to do so must cross the Manitoba tracks. It reached that point yesterday afternoon, but an injunction was served restraining it from crossing the Manitoba right of way. The Manitoba also sent a long train of cars and two engines with a large force of men. The cars are stationed across the point where the new road expects to cross, and men are at work building side tracks at that point.

The new road must run into town by November or forfeit $50,000 bonds voted by the city, but the Manitoba people say they will use force if necessary to prevent it from crossing, and if the attempt is made it is feared trouble will ensue.

Against the Alton.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Arguments in the case of the Chicago Board of Trade vs. the Chicago and Alton Railroad company and others were heard by the interstate commerce commission today. The complaint in the case is that the defendant road violated the provisions of law by demanding a much greater compensation for transporting live hogs from Kansas City and other points west of Chicago to the latter city than for contemporaneous service in transporting what is known as packing-house product. The testimony in the case was heard at Chicago and Kansas City and continued to Washington for argument.

A Railroad Man Dead.
FRANKFORT, Mich., Oct. 26.—S. S. Thompson of Vermont, widely known in railroad circles, died here Thursday night. He was a large stockholder in the Canadian Pacific, and his estate is estimated to be worth $700,000. He was president of the Frankfort and Southeastern railroad, which he was to have completed in November.

A circular is out announcing that after Nov. 5 no freight will be received for shipment by lake and rail routes to Eastern points.

Sidway, Mich., a station on the Duluth division of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic road, has been opened, and an agent appointed for the transaction of freight and passenger business. It is located 185.9 miles from Duluth, and is a junction with the Ontonagon and Brule River railroad. It is seven-tenths of a mile east of Hill Creek, which station has been closed.

The joint line of the Union Pacific and the Northwestern road, between the present Union Pacific lines to Duluth via Sioux City, will be known as the Lake Superior, St. Paul and Union Pacific line.

The Omaha is running several new cars on its route to train, and the Northwestern company, has returned from a trip among the south shore towns.

E. T. Chute, general passenger agent of the Georgia Central railway, is in the city today. Mr. Charlton is one of the representatives of the men of that progressive Southern state.

Thomas McGill, general traveling agent of the Georgia Associated Traffic lines is in town.

CARLTON COUNTY SEAT
To Come Up in the District Court Next Monday for a Hearing.

CLOQUET, Oct. 26.—Next Monday the Carlton county seat muddle will be aired in the full term of the district court at Thomson.

The light for the county seat is a three-cornered one, and Thomson, Northern Pacific Junction and Cloquet are the contestants. It looks now as if the latter would receive the coveted prize, and the court will receive a petition asking favorable consideration of the claims of that place. It is war to the knife between Thomson and the Junction, either being willing to throw its strength in favor of Cloquet to prevent the other from capturing the location of the county offices.

Smuggling Opium--The Cronin Trial--Tascott Again.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Oct. 26.—[Special.]—A man named Joseph Douglas shot and fatally injured Frank Duschane, Sr., of Negaunee, on Cleveland avenue last night at 9 o'clock. Douglas was suspicious of Duschane's visits to Mrs. Douglas, and took measures to prevent any future calls. Duschane is in the Ishpeming hospital, and will die, Douglas is in jail pending his victim's death.

A Weak-Kneed Judge.
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—The Cronin trial was resumed at the usual hour this morning. The first witness was County Physician Todd. He testified that only Dr. Egbert, his assistant, and himself had combination to the vault in which the body of Cronin was kept. He (Dr. Todd) had not entered the vault since Dr. Cronin's death. Dr. G. Moore, who was present at the autopsy, was called and described the wounds and marks of identification of the body.

After Dr. Moore had testified as to the wounds on Dr. Cronin's body, the defense moved to exclude his testimony on the ground that he had read a verbatim report of the trial in this morning's papers, which gave the entire testimony of Dr. Egbert. They argued that the physician read this knowing that he had to testify and that the order of the court excluded witnesses while the testimony was being taken; yet the reading of testimony had precisely the same effect as the hearing of it. Judge McConnell said he thought the evidence should be excluded, when there was a storm of objections from the prosecution. Messrs. Hyne and Mills protested against such a ruling, and said they could not produce a witness who had not read all about this case, and that the judge might just as well adjourn the case now if he was going to hold any such doctrine. The motion was finally overruled.

Smuggling Opium.
SAULT STE. MARIE, Oct. 26.—[Special.]—Opium smuggling has been carried on at this point for the past six months on an extensive scale. The smugglers bring the opium from Vancouver, and smuggle it across the river in small boats. W. L. Baby, special United States customs detective, has arrived to assist the local officers in arresting the parties implicated, of whom there are quite a number. Part of the gang are now at Port Huron, waiting for a chance to make a dash across from Sarnia $2000 worth of opium which they have lately imported and are going to sell to Chicago dealers. There has been an enormous traffic in the article, and startling developments will undoubtedly appear in a few days.

Tascott Again.
CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Chief of Police Hubbard was shown an Associated Press dispatch from Philadelphia in regard to a man under arrest there accused to be Tascott, the murderer of Millionaire Seal of Chicago. He said he had received a dispatch from Philadelphia police in regard to the matter, and had sent a dispatch in reply this morning, saying that he would await the arrival of a photograph of the suspect, which has been mailed before sending a man to identify the prisoner.

A Liberal Gain.
LONDON, Oct. 26.—The election for member of Parliament for Brighton, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sir William Robertson, who had recently committed suicide, was held at Brighton yesterday. Mr. Gerald Loder, the unionist candidate, was elected, receiving 7123 votes. Sir Robert Peel, Gladstonian, received 4925. The conservative majority at the last election was 2242, and today's result shows a liberal gain of 733 votes.

AT THE CONVENTION.

Today's Session of the Young Mens Christian Association.

Proceedings Tonight--List of Church Services Tomorrow.

The session of last evening in the Y. M. C. A. convention was given up to the reading of papers and brief discussions of the same, the first being by B. A. Shuman of South Dakota, on "Social Work." He was followed by Dr. Heath of St. Paul on the "Claims of the Church of God on the Young Men."

Thomas Cochran of St. Paul, chairman of the state committee, was called for and spoke. There was singing by quartet and by W. C. Stevenson, and announcements were made for today's session.

The morning session began at 8:30 this morning with devotionals led by Rev. T. C. Horton of St. Paul. Next followed the report of the state committee, by Thomas Cochran, Jr., chairman. The first address was by Rev. T. C. Horton. The subject chosen was "The Young Men of Foreign Lands. What Should the Young Men Christian Associations do in Their Behalf?" a stirring appeal to the associations of America to aid, both by money and missionary work in the evangelization of young men of foreign lands who have no present means of hearing the word of God. C. K. Ober of New York, followed Dr. Horton with a conversation on "The Demand for General Secretaries and Christian Physical Instructors, and Opportunities for Obtaining Suitable Preparation for Their Work." Mr. Ober is a fluent speaker and his remarks were received with much interest. C. F. Adams also read an instructive paper on the Christian work being done by the associations.

The session was brought to a close with Bible readings, conducted by Rev. Alexander Patterson, the Chicago divine.

This afternoon there has been a very interesting college conference of the various college delegations at which C. K. Ober was a prominent feature and which is in progress as The Herald goes to press. The report of the state executive committee was also put in the hands of the proper committee. This evening's feature will be an address by Dr. H. Grattan Guinness of the London Missionary institute.

At Churches Tomorrow.
At most of the city churches tomorrow a service will be held by Young Men Christian Association delegates. Services will begin by a sunrise service at 5:30 a. m. at the Association hall, led by State Secretary H. H. Horton, and at 7:30 a. m. at the Association hall, led by State Secretary H. H. Horton, and at 7:30 a. m. at the Association hall, led by State Secretary H. H. Horton.

TO MAKE A GREAT PAPER.

What it Costs to Produce Some of the Great Daily Newspapers.

Figures That Represent a Great Fortune Every Day in the Year.

Doubtless the average reader of an eight-page daily journal of the first class has not the remotest idea of the amount of money required to publish it, says Melville Phillips in Lippincott. It looks so cheap and—when one has gleaned the news from it—so worthless.

The heaviest single item of expense, for a metropolitan newspaper of large circulation, is for the paper on which it is printed. The New York World and the New York Times are each, let us say, eight pages, but the World spends more in a day for its white paper than does The Times in a week. It is within bounds to place the paper bill of an eight-page journal, with an average daily circulation of 75,000, at close upon $1000 per day. During 1888 The New York World is said to have paid out $600,000 for its paper.

The "composition" bills vary from about $750 a week for four-page papers like The Boston Post, Philadelphia Record, Baltimore News, and Chicago Evening Journal, to $6000 a week for the largest ten and twelve-page papers, which issue special suburban editions involving the waste of many columns of "local" news put in type for particular places and not used in the principal city editions.

It is impossible to cover in a single statement the editorial expenditures of the leading newspapers. They differ in this respect more widely than in any other. There is one successful class, represented by The Cincinnati Enquirer, whose staff of editorial writers does not cost it $100 a week; there is another class, including papers like The New York Sun and Chicago Tribune, the weekly salaries of whose editorial writers foot up not less than $1000.

Great newspapers differ extremely in the money they expend for special telegraphic news. Certain excellent "local" newspapers with established advertising patronage, notably The Philadelphia Ledger and The Baltimore Sun, satisfied with the outside news service of the Associated Press, pay for telegraph tolls not more than $100 a week; while other enterprising newspapers, like The New York World, Sun, Times and Herald, The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, The Cincinnati Enquirer, and The Philadelphia Press, pay from $500 to $1200 a week. This, it should be borne in mind, is for telegraph service alone; for here another important distinction between these two classes must be noted. The first (the great local newspapers or advertising mediums) probably expend only from $75 to $125 per week on the special correspondents who send news by telegraph or mail, and are paid by "space," or at so much per column, contributed or printed; while for the same service the papers of the second class pay out from $800 to $2000 per week. The staff of reporters is not such a variable quantity, since all metropolitan journals must give, with more or less completeness, the news of the cities in which they are published. There are, indeed, in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore and Chicago penny newspapers whose entire weekly outlay for the gathering of "local" news, including the salary of the city editor, does not exceed $135. But the larger newspapers employ from twenty to twenty-five reporters at an average weekly salary of $20 and pay their city editors from $50 to $75.

Then there are the telegraph editors, say five of them at an average weekly wage of $25 (The New York Sun pays best for this important and laborious service); the literary, dramatic and financial editors, on salaries ranging from $30 to $75 per week; the "news," sometimes the same as the "night," editor, who "makes up" the paper and "puts it to press," and rightly gets well paid therefor; and—saving his highness the editor-in-chief, whose income is too magnificent for mention—there is, finally, the managing editor, who may be paid from $50 to $60 a week all the way up to the princely salary of Col. John Cookerill of The New York World, who receives from Mr. Pulitzer the snug fortune of $200,000 a year.

Cable-tolls are not so heavy as the public may think. The cable despatches and Sunday letters not only come in skeleton form, very much condensed in substance and abbreviated in letter, but they are paid for by the various syndicates of newspapers which receive them. Thus, the New York journal which arranges for a cable letter sells it to a leading paper in five other cities. The cable letter as printed makes 1000 words, we shall say. As received it was 500 words in length, and the toll for it was $60. But divided among six the cost is only $10 a 1000 words. Three New York papers published short reports from the American baseball team that lately played its way around the world. Now, the telegraph rate to and from Australia is $2.20 a word, as the message must be repeated twenty times and go and come by way of Europe. Even at the rate for newspapers of $1.25 a word these baseball reports seem a remarkable piece of extravagance, until one knows of the ingenious system by which they were received. There are just so many probable plays in a game of baseball; only about twenty words were necessary for each report. Divide this trivial cost among the syndicate, and see how insignificant one phase of newspaper "enterprises" becomes.

In my list of expenditures I have taken no account of the force in the business office, the mailing room, the foundry, and the pressroom. But add the various items for a mammoth newspaper and you'll find the grand total far over a million. This is astounding; but I learn from a trustworthy source that The World cleared a $1,000,000 last year.

MY EAST.

(Clifton Scollard in America.)

Ojave, about, your eyes are blue, And it's white your slender hands, I dream, when'er I look on you, Of golden orient lands.

Mayhap it is the amber tinge Of your hair, or the rippling of your hair, Or your drooped eyelids' curved fringe That sweetly waits me there.

Mayhap it is your brow that vies With almond blossoms that fall and float, Or that your cheek so like the rose When its pink petals part.

Or your lip-line that softly shows Like the ruby heart, Or yet your cheek so like the rose When its pink petals part.

I have no need to travel far To seek the cloudless climes of blue, For you, you are my morning star;— I find my East in you.

STANTON AND LINCOLN.

Mr. Dana Describes the Evening After Lincoln's Second Election.

A recent New York Sun contained the following editorial by Mr. Dana:

"In the last number of the Century Magazine Messrs. Hay and Nicolay narrate their idea of what happened at the war department on the evening after the second election of President Lincoln in 1861. As they were not present their report must be a matter of hearsay. I do not know that any of the particulars they relate are deficient in accuracy, though I can testify that while I was there at that time I did not observe them. 'I was not usually on duty in the war department at night, but Mr. Stanton had directed me to come over that evening, and I arrived pretty early, say at 8 o'clock or 8.30. The President, apparently as serene as a summer morning, was in Mr. Stanton's large private room, and no one was with him except the secretary and Gen. Eckert, who came continually with telegrams. The result of the voting was of such a decisive character that the news arrived much earlier than had been expected; and when I went in, I learned both from the President and the secretary that the question seemed already to be substantially settled. Each despatch that was received seemed only to add to the apparent certainty; and by about 9 o'clock there was no longer any doubt. But without waiting for that hour, Mr. Lincoln drew from his breast a thin, yellow-covered pamphlet. Dana said he to me, 'have you ever read anything of Petroleum V. Nasby?' pronouncing Nasby as though the first syllable were spelled with the letter 's.' 'No, sir,' said I, 'not much; but I know he writes from the Confederate Cross Roads and prints his things in The Toledo Blade.'"

"Yes," said Mr. Lincoln, "that's so; but that is not the whole. Pull up your chair and listen. I drew up to him and he began to read to me, and he read not to Stanton, one after another of Petroleum's funny hits, and between each of them we had a quiet little laugh all to ourselves. But the lion head of the secretary showed plainly that he had no sympathy with this amusement; in fact, his face wore its darkest and sternest expression. However, the reading went on, occasionally broken by Gen. Eckert's entrance with another telegram, to which Mr. Lincoln paid no very serious attention; and he quickly turned back to the reading every time. In this way he read paragraphs and even pages of Nasby, until finally a despatch was brought in of a more important nature, and he laid the pamphlet down to attend to it."

"While he was thus engaged Mr. Stanton motioned to me to come with him into General Eckert's room, and when the door was shut he broke out in fury. 'God damn it to hell!' he said. 'Was there ever such nonsense? Was there ever such inability to appreciate what is going on in an awful crisis? Here is the fate of this whole republic at stake, and here is the man around whom it all centers, on whom it all depends, turning aside from this momentous, this incomprehensible issue, to read the God damned trash of a silly mountebank!'"

"This fiery speech of the enraged secretary was interrupted by Gen. Eckert, who had another telegram which he showed to him, and which we all went back into Mr. Stanton's own office, in order that the President might see it."

"Hardly had he begun to read it, however, when a new occasion of irritation arose. The messenger brought in a card and handed it to the President, who said at once, as he passed the card over to the secretary, 'Show him in!' Stanton read it and turning to me, exclaimed in a low voice: 'God in heaven, it is Whitelaw Reid!' I understood the point of this explosion at once. Mr. Reid, who was then the correspondent of The Cincinnati Gazette and a great friend of Secretary Chase in Washington, was not liked by the secretary of war. This dislike had gone so far that the doorkeepers at the war department had received directions that Mr. Reid was not to be admitted. But when he sent his card in to the President they could not refuse it. Mr. Reid came in and was greeted by Mr. Lincoln, but not by the secretary. His purpose was merely to obtain from headquarters and from the highest authority the assurance that the election had certainly gone in favor of Lincoln; and after expressions of thanks and congratulations he withdrew. Just then Judge David C. Ottiker came in with two or three other gentlemen, among them Mr. Fox of the navy department, and the reading of Petroleum V. Nasby, from the Confederate Cross Roads, was not resumed."

"These incidents of a memorable historical event are not recorded in any annals of the time that I have seen; and yet they appear to me interesting and characteristic enough not to be forgotten."

MIXED-UP MARRIAGES.

How Miller's Four Girl Children are Tangled Up.

Cincinnati dispatch to the New York World: Henry Miller, a shoemaker who died recently in this city, had a remarkable matrimonial career. His first wife died in giving birth to a girl baby. He afterwards married his wife's sister, who also died in the course of a year, just after having born to her a girl baby. Miller was an industrious fellow and his father-in-law, a close-fisted dairyman, brought about a marriage between Miller and a third daughter. In three years a girl baby was born and the third wife and sister died. The father-in-law had good a year before and the mother, who was a treble mother-in-law to Miller, and he mourned the loss of their dead together. A mutual liking sprang up, the result being that mother-in-law and son-in-law became husband and wife.

Their marriage was a happy one for nearly three years. Then Mrs. Miller No. 4 gave birth to a girl baby, dying within less than ten days. After the little one was born Miller lived but two months. His four daughters, born under such peculiar circumstances, are still living. The first three are not only step-sisters, but are cousins. The fourth, the daughter of the mother-in-law, is not only a cousin and step-sister, but likewise an aunt, while the grandmother was stepmother to her own grandchildren.

A TRAVELER'S STORY.

Telling of Journeys More Wonderful than the Wandering Jew's.

"It had been more than 200 years since I passed along here the first time," was the astonishing statement of a stranger who had been paddling down White river, and who stopped in the shade of the old covered bridge at Washington street to gossip with a reporter for the Indianapolis News.

"There were no bridges over the stream then, and no reporters here to interview me. In fact there is little here to remind me of my first trip. The stream has drawn into its bed like a turtle into its shell since my early days. It used to swell out through all those lowlands. There was no bottom to the water and you couldn't see across when I was a boy."

"Are you sure this is the same stream?"

"There can't be any mistake about it."

I never err in these matters. The course of streams do not change even if they shrink from rivers to brooks. I spent several days in this latitude before, and for a whole week was laid up against a big hill which stood out of the water north of here (now Crown hill)."

"How often do you make these tours?"

"Irregularly. I am always on the go, but I can't control my course entirely. I belong to a roving, restless, irresponsible and almost indestructible race. One year I am in Australia. Another I am up in the Andes mountains. Now I am up on the Hudson bay, anon in Yucatan. My periods of rest are few, yet I never tire. Sometimes I am out from many of my tribe, but if I can't reach them one way I do another. My favorite routes are down the courses of rivers. I never travel overland, and if I lose my way or get off into a pond or slough that has no connection with living waters, I bide my time with the frogs and snake-feeders."

"You mean that you stay with them until a freshet comes which enables you to sail out into the waterway?"

"No. Sometimes that is the case, but if I get tired of waiting and become weary of my companions I shake the mud off my feet, put away terrestrial shapes and forms, fade into the invisible, and rising high in the air, seek friends and congenial climes."

"Who are you, that you do these things?"

"I am a drop of water. Now you can understand why I am old without being gray; how it is that I travel constantly by steam or air, range over the wide creation, and sometimes by chance, as fluid or vapor, make second and even third trips to the same place. But I must be away. I am bidden to play a part in a cloudburst in Cuba on the 11th of this month."

And the shiny drop ran along a drowsy fisherman's line and dropped on to a black bass's back, and was lost among a million fellow-travelers.

INTERESTING TO NEWSBOYS.

Street Car Companies Held Responsible for Newsboys Jumping From Cars.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Newsboys all over the country will be interested in a decision concerning one of their number that has just been decided in the supreme court. The case was one in which a newsboy had been injured for life while jumping off a street car while in motion.

Suit was brought against the company and the child secured a verdict for $3,542. This amount was at once deposited in court, but the case was appealed and carried up through various stages until the last resort in the states was reached. The supreme court now decides that since the boy was permitted on the car, he was not a trespasser, and being allowed to jump on and off, the company assumed responsibility for any damages that might ensue. This is said to be the first decision on such a question that has ever been rendered.

Deum" will be celebrated. In this every bishop in the country, one and all robed in vestments of the greatest magnificence, will participate. Five thousand students of all the universities will participate in the great drinking festival tomorrow night.

The gala banquet at the palace immediately after the ceremony will, it is said, involve an expenditure of $40,000, and will be under the supervision of a committee of caterers summoned from all parts of the kingdom. The match is said to be one purely of love. The bride is 19 and the Duke of Sparta two years her senior.

CREATES COMMENT.

Is Patrick Egan About to go into the Milling Business in Chili?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—No little comment has been created in a portion of the diplomatic circles and among the attaches of the department of state by the receipt of marked copies of a Valparaiso paper of recent date containing a speech delivered at a convention of millers by Minister Patrick Egan.

In this speech, after dwelling upon the fact that milling in Chili seems to be as yet but in its infancy, and that radical improvements in methods were necessary, he announced that he had decided "to order from the United States machinery and workmen like those used in his establishment there in order to make known the progress realized in that important industry."

This is taken to indicate that the ex-Irish leader proposes to turn his mission to advantage and go into the milling business on his own account. This would be somewhat of an innovation on diplomatic methods, and one it is believed that would not be regarded with perfect equanimity by President Harrison or Secretary Blaine.

The newspaper article in question is written in that vein in the "Soyal American" journal, and it is possible that the American minister to Chili has been incorrectly reported, but it is at least certain that future developments will be awaited with interest in the state department.

"If Mr. Egan proposes to go into the milling business in his new home," said an under official today, "and if such a step were allowed to pass unchallenged, it would open up a field of unlimited possibilities. We might hear of our minister at Berlin going into the legal business, or of our consul-general at London starting a newspaper under the auspices of his office, and so on ad libitum. It would result too, in diplomatic posts being sought after by business men instead of by those engaged in the professions as at present. Probably, however, Patrick Egan is only going to do a little philanthropic work. We shall see."

WILL BE LAID TO REST.

Lisbon, Oct. 25.—The remains of King Louis will be laid to rest in the Royal Pantheon this afternoon with great ceremony. Since Tuesday they have been lying in state in the monastery of the church of St. Jerome at Belem. All the courts of Europe will be represented at the obsequies, and a delegation of the German empire, of which the late king was an honorary member, will act as a special guard of honor. Business will be suspended from noon throughout the country, and the principal cities there will be special funeral services at the hour of the interment.

TO COLLECT FUNDS.

New York, Oct. 25.—The steamship Alaska, which is due here tomorrow, will bring to this country Rev. Fathers Matthew Prior and Maria of the Order of Capuchins. They propose to travel through the United States collecting funds for the completion of the memorial church at Cork to the great temperance apostle. They have credentials from high authorities at Rome, which will ensure them the privilege of preaching in the leading churches of every diocese.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Corrigan brings his meeting at the West Side park to a premature end today. The action is due to the unfavorable weather, the desire of some owners to ship their horses to Nashville and of others to give their animals a well-earned rest.

CELEBRATION OF THE WEDDING OF PRINCESS SOPHIE AND DUKE OF SPARTA.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—All the royalties are gathered at Athens for the wedding of the Princess Sophie of Prussia and the Duke of Sparta, crown prince of Greece, which will be solemnized tomorrow. The Emperor William will make his public entry into the city this afternoon, and tonight there will be a grand torchlight procession in his honor.

The ceremony will take place in the Royal chapel, which has been gorgeously decorated. While it is in progress the old Byzantine chants will be sung, and after the words have been spoken that bind the young couple together for life, a "Te

LESSONS OF LIFE.

READ, REFLECT, AND THEN ACT.

"In the world's broad field of battle, In the bivouac of life, Be not like dumb, driven cattle! Be a hero in the strife!"

Let us then be up and doing, With a heart for any fate; Still achieving, still pursuing, Learn to labor and to wait."

—LONGFELLOW.

It should be the ambition of everyone to make the most of his opportunities. Success or failure in life depends almost entirely upon ourselves. It is natural for one who succeeds to attribute it to his own superior ability, and for those who fail to blame some one else, or charge it up to ill luck. But to be honest and candid you will admit that the fault is in yourself. Just look back over the record of your life and you will see opportunities which presented themselves to you in such a manner that you now wonder how you could have failed to grasp them. Yes, you admit all this, and ask what of it? Well we wish to observe this: History repeats itself over and over again. In all probability you will be brought face to face with just as great opportunities, and fail again. Remember that life is a battle and that the best generals are crowned with the greatest success. It is not luck, but pluck that wins. Garfield once said: "A pound of pluck is worth a ton of luck." You probably ask what great opportunities we refer to and how you can take advantage of them. It may seem like an old story, and yet we want to tell it again and impress it upon you. Duluth has just settled down to a solid and wonderfully rapid growth. Its growth for the next ten years is going to be simply phenomenal, and within five years probably one-third of its population will live outside of the present city limits. The largest profits on real estate will be made on what is now outside property and in the suburban towns. This is the first year that any building of any consequence has been done at Lakeside. If you have not seen what has been accomplished, go and behold the transformation. This year is only a starter. Next year hundreds of fine residences will be built at London, Lester Park and Crosley Park, water and gas will be put in, streets graded, and many other substantial improvements made. Now, in face of all these facts, do you propose to wait till all these things are done before buying? If you do, you will pay some sharper fellow than yourself a handsome advance. There will be plenty of buyers then, and if you buy now you will be the lucky fellow who gets the advance. There is no element of loss to be considered, and the only question is, how much will you make? We can sell you some of the best of this suburban property, that will unquestionably become popular and high priced within a very few years, and at prices so low and terms so easy that any one can buy. We are selling splendid lots at $100 each, only $10 down and $1 per week without interest or taxes. You will never see such opportunities again and if you care to do well and make money you will come in and get a plat of Crosley Park, with prices, etc. Don't wait till prices are advanced again.

"Stand not upon the order of your buying, but buy at once!"

THE VERY RICH MEN.

A List of Seventy Names Worth
$20,000,000 or More Each.

Half of the United States is Owned by 25,000
Persons.

In spite of the rapid increase in the number of millionaires in the United States in recent years, the popular notion is that wealth is yet very much more evenly distributed in this country than in England. Mr. Thos. G. Shearman, the well-known New York statistician, has been engaged for some time in collecting facts to show as precisely as possible the proportion of the wealth of the country held by a few rich men and families; and he finds a greater concentration of wealth here than in any other country. The results of his investigation will appear in The Forum for November, from advance sheets of which the following facts are taken. Mr. Shearman makes the following enumeration of owners of more than $20,000,000 each:

$150,000,000: J. J. Astor, Trinity church.
$100,000,000: C. Vanderbilt, W. K. Vanderbilt, Jay Gould, Leland Stanford, J. D. Rockefeller.
$70,000,000: Estate of A. Packer.
$60,000,000: John I. Blair, estate of Charles Crocker.
$50,000,000: Wm. Astor, W. W. Astor, Russell Sage, E. A. Stevens, estate of Moses Taylor, estate of Brown & Ives.
$40,000,000: P. D. Armour, F. L. Ames, Wm. Rockefeller, H. M. Flagler, Fowers & Weightman, estate of P. Goslet.
$35,000,000: C. P. Huntington, D. O. Mills, estate of T. A. Scott, J. W. Carr.

$30,000,000: G. B. Roberts, Chas. Pratt, Ross Winans, E. B. Cox, Claus Spreckle, A. Belmont, E. J. Livingston, Fred Weyerhaeuser, Mrs. Mark Hopkins, Mrs. Hattie Green, Estates of S. V. Harkness, R. W. Coleman, I. M. Singer.
$25,000,000: A. J. Drexel, J. S. Morgan, J. P. Morgan, Marshall Field, David Dowd, J. G. Fair, E. T. Gerry, Estates of Governor Fairbanks, A. T. Stewart, A. Schermerhorn.

$22,500,000: O. H. Payne, Estates of I. V. Williamson, W. F. Wald.
$20,000,000: F. W. Vanderbilt, Theo. Havemeyer, H. O. Havemeyer, W. G. Warden, W. P. Thompson, Mrs. Schenley, J. B. Haggin, H. A. Hutchins, estate of W. Sloane, E. S. Higgins, C. Tower, Wm. Thaw, Dr. Hoeltzer, Wm. Sharon, Peter Donohue.

These seventy names represent an aggregate wealth of $2,700,000,000, an average of more than $37,500,000 each. Although Mr. Shearman, in making this estimate, did not look for less than twenty millionaires, he discovered incidentally fifty others worth more than $10,000,000 each; and he says that a list of ten persons can be made whose wealth averages $100,000,000 each, and another list of 100 persons whose wealth averages $25,000,000. No such lists can be made up in any other country. "The richest duke of England," he says, "fall below the average wealth of a dozen American citizens; while the greatest bankers, merchants, and railway magnates of England cannot compare in wealth with many Americans."

The average annual income of the richest hundred Englishmen is about $60,000, but the average income of the richest hundred Americans cannot be less than $1,200,000, and probably exceeds $1,800,000. The richest of the Rothschilds, and the world-renowned banker, Baron Overstone, each left about $1,000,000. The Duke of Buccleuch, and the Duke of Devonshire, each left $5,000,000. The Duke of Devonshire, in his pocket left about $20,000,000. The Marquis of Bute was worth, in 1922, about $3,000,000 in land and he now may worth $40,000,000. The Duke of Norfolk may be worth $40,000,000, and the Duke of Westminster perhaps $50,000,000.

Mr. Shearman's conclusion is that 25,000 persons own one-half the wealth of the United States; and that the whole wealth of the country is practically owned by 250,000 persons, or one in sixty of the adult male population; and he predicts, from the rapid recent concentration of wealth, that under present conditions over 500,000 persons will practically own all the wealth of the country in thirty years—or less than one in 500 of the adult male population.

AMONG THE ARTISTS.

Metaphors and Rubens Who Are Born to Blush Unseen.

The Bohemian element in and about New York numbers among its members many a Metaphor who wastes his sweetest hours in the desert air, says J. K. Bangs in the November Harper. They nevertheless enjoy life hugely, and have among themselves a quantity of unwritten anecdotes sufficiently large to fill the shelves of a moderate-sized library. The incipient Grémons who could not admire a well-known society woman because she was out of drawing in this country, in addition to whom are several sensitive souls who have repeatedly refused to reproduce on canvas certain sunset and sky effects because "the coloring thereof was atrocious."

On Lake Luzerne—not to be confounded with Switzerland's Luzerne, which it resembles in no particular—a young and recent addition to art's followers was once asked why the lovely little sheet of water was named after the historic Swiss Lake, and replied, "Because it is so different; and there," he added, "is where art is so vastly the superior of nature, it is so different." And his companion, who had seen nature reflected upon the commentator's canvas, agreed that it was so.

Another successful devotee of art's shrine, on being asked to paint the portrait of a friend, kindly replied, "That if he were allowed to put a little soul into the face he would be glad to do it." The dream of the French painter who thought himself unhappy in heaven because there was not a color shop in the place, finds its counterpart in the reality of the situation confronting the young man who gave up art entirely because the colors at his disposal were so limited, saying that "with so few and such hackneyed hues" he could not satisfy his own soul, and preferring to be conscientious, tried literature, in which profession he found it possible to mystify his readers by the extraordinary combination of syllables he was able to produce.

"The academy committee have a grudge against you, haven't they?" asked one disciple of the brush of a brother in art.

"Why, no. They accepted my marine."

"So I saw. If they were well disposed they would have sent it back."

This was certainly biting, but hardly more than pleasant when compared with the criticism vouchsafed to an engraver by his best friend, who said his wood-cuts in a recently published book were very good, but would have been vastly better if they had been printed from the reverse side of the block.

The painter whose signature was the most striking thing he ever did, and the colorist who preferred to paint apples blue and peaches a delicate mauve because he thought they were prettier that way, find their parallel in this community in the artist whose taste for frames is equalled only by his lack of taste in the selection of his colors, and in the beginner who thought a sunrise in the West preferable to the usual order of things on the score of originality.

That some of the struggling aspirants for the bays are imprudent goes without saying. There is room for doubt that any poverty-stricken soul ever painted his academy picture on the bosom of his only shirt for lack of canvas, selling his studs to buy a frame, because having parted with his shirt he no longer had use for them, but the young man who wore a brass-headed manuscript fastener in lieu of a plain gold stud and has his being on Manhattan Island. The individual who for fame's sake hailed poverty with joy because he could not do his best unless he were hungry, can be found there; and as for the disciples of the brush who resemble Barbs in their "williness" to paint anything, from a barn to the portrait of a lady, if by so doing they may keep the sheriff, the wolf, and thirst from the door, their name is legion.

INGIN SUMMER.

Just about the time when fall gets to rattling in the trees, An' the man that knows it all, He's the one that's in every breeze, When a person tells his tale, Then that blows a lovely breeze!

Kind-uh smoky-lookin' blues Spine across the mountain side; An' the heavy mornin' dew, Green the grass up fur an' wide. Natur' raly 'pears ex'ot, She was layin' off a day— Sort-uh drollin' in her treat, 'Fore she frocks up to day.

Nary lick o' work I strike Long about this time o' year! I'm a sort-uh slowly like, Right when ingin summer's here. Wife an' boys can do the work, But a man with match wit, Like I got, kin' 'fore to shirk.

Time when grapes set to ripe, All I eat of any man Is a common co'-eod pipe, With tobacco to my taste. Then just loose me what the air— Summer's crest me, wahn and free— Promised lands I'll find me there: Wings I'll fairly sprout on me!

I'm a loun'g' round on thrones, Bosh! worlds I'm shors to shore. Jest outside the cabin door! On my old head, bald an' gray, 'Pears right like the gilded crown I expect to wear some day.

A New Style of Cars.

The Northern Pacific has just received twenty new colonist sleepers from Barney Smith & Co. that are models of beauty, convenience and comfort, and contain many improvements over the ordinary colonist sleeper, or so-called tourist car, generally in use.

Each car has fourteen sections, with gentlemen's toilet room in one end, and the ladies' room, supplied with marble-topped washstand and force pump, in the other. In one end of the car is a Baker fireproof heater, which heats the car by means of hot water conducted through pipes. In the opposite end of the car is a cooking range surrounded by good kitchen facilities. Opposite this range is a twenty-gallon cooler for drinking water, also a large tank holding seventy gallons of water for general use.

These cars are finished in natural woods, ash, maple and butternut, beautifully polished, and at night are lighted up with eight Acme lamps exactly similar to those in use on Pullman sleepers. The sections are divided by sliding head-boards, effecting a privacy not possible in the present style of cars where the sections are separated by wire netting. An ingenious arrangement of the seats enable them to be extended flat or with head rests when prepared for bedding, and under each seat is a box in which can be stored bedding or small baggage. In each section there is also provided a movable table similar to those in use in Pullman cars, which is extremely convenient for many purposes. All cars are provided with curtain rods.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Northern Pacific employs a porter to look after these sleepers, all holders of second-class Montana and Pacific coast tickets are allowed to use them free of charge. The Northern Pacific has a greater number of these sleepers in service than any other transcontinental line, their total equipment now amounting to sixty-three cars. It is clear that in providing for the comfort of the traveling public, the Northern Pacific, with its new vestibuled dining and sleeping cars and superior accommodations for second-class passengers, leads all its competitors.

IRON IN MINNESOTA.

The Iron-Bearing Formations of the Vermilion and Mesabi Ranges.

An Interesting and Valuable Paper by Prof. H. V. Winchell.

(Read at the October Meeting of the Minnesota Academy of Sciences at Minneapolis.)

Within the past few years there has been developed in the northeastern part of this state a wonderful industry, requiring the time and services of a small army of people, and calling into circulation millions of dollars to build and operate the railroads and mining plants needed in the active operation of the far-famed Lake Superior iron mines.

The following description of the different geological formations in which iron ore may be obtained in this state, is a brief and summary statement of a few of the facts observed during the past three or four years under the direction of the state geologist, while making a detailed geological survey of the state.

The rough, however, on Ely lake several anticlines are seen, where the dip changes from south to north, or vice versa. The general trend or strike of this formation is that of all the stratified rocks of the region, i. e., about north, sixty degrees east.

It is only very recently that this formation has been proved to be iron-bearing to any considerable extent in this state. But during the past few months samples of good ore have been obtained from it in township 53-12, north of the town of Ely. In sections 4 and 5 of this township the hornblende schist becomes charged with magnetite to such a degree that it is heavy and apparently of a fine quality of magnetic ore. No analyses have yet been made of it by the survey. It may contain titanium.

It is not at all unlikely that this formation may prove to be of great value as an iron-producing horizon in Minnesota, since many productive mines are situated in the same rocks in New York and Canada.

Next younger than the Vermilion series is the Keewatin. This formation was first described under this name (which means "north") by Mr. A. C. Lawson of the Canada Geological Survey, who studied it on Lake of the Woods. It consists of vertically-bedded green schists and slates, which are in places hydro-metamorphic and have a greasy feel. The Keewatin appears to grade insensibly into the older crystalline schists, which are found between it and the granite on both sides. It is largely composed of eruptive material which has been re-arranged and re-deposited in water. In it are found peculiar agglomerate schists in which the pebbles are of the same green diabasic material as the magma which surrounds them.

In this formation are found the wonderfully pure and extensive deposits of specular iron ore, which have made the Lake Superior region famous. In fact, the only mines that have been really worked in this state are in the Keewatin, at Tower and Ely. The ore is largely hematite, but contains some magnetite in places. It is very hard, as a rule, and the cost of explosives is no small item in the mining expenses. At the Minnesota mine for instance there was used in the month of July over 30,000 pounds of dynamite and powder, and 1300 men were employed to drill, break up and handle a quantity of ore not very much greater than was mined by half that number of men at the Chandler mine where the ore is in a crushed or brecciated condition and does not require so much drilling and blasting.

The ore beds are in vertically placed lens-shaped masses, and are mingled with or accompanied by large amounts of banded red, white, black and gray jasper. So intimately mixed are the ore and jasper rock or "sapillite" as it is called, that much of it is worthless. But at many places there are deposits 100 feet long, 30 to 50 feet wide and of indefinite depth where the ore contains on an average less than 2 per cent of all impurities and that mostly silica. Its particular value lies in its low content of phosphorus, averaging less than one-tenth of one per cent. For this reason it is in great demand by the manufacturers of Bessemer steel.

While speaking of the mines in the Keewatin formation it will not do to omit mention of the Chandler mine on Ely, which may fairly be considered as the most wonderful mine in the world.

It has only forty acres and mines in but a small part of that. It is only fifteen months since the first work was done on the wooded hillside, now covered by shaft houses, hoisting machinery and railroad tracks. And in that short space of time nearly 300,000 tons of iron ore have been mined and shipped by rail to Two Harbors, and from there by boat to Cleveland and other points.

Considering the area covered by the mine, this is a record never before equaled, and for this wonderful performance chief credit is due to the superintendent and general manager, Capt. Joe Sellwood of Duluth, who has put into operation a very simple but efficient method of mining rapidly and cheaply.

The next formation which contains workable deposits of iron ore is the Huronian, which, as seen by the diagram, lies unconformably upon upturned edges of the Keewatin. In this formation we find sedimentary slates and quartzites interbedded with some gabbro and greenstone.

In the vicinity of Guntit lake, on the international boundary, this formation is found to contain deposits of granular, shiny magnetite, more or less mixed with quartz and olivine. As before stated, no mining has yet been done in this formation, but shafts and diamond drill holes have penetrated it and found good ore, and the mines will be opened as soon as railroad facilities can be obtained. Hematite ore is found in this same formation in connection with the red and gray quartzite of Pokegama Falls, near Grand Rapids, on the Mississippi river above Atkin. At this locality is the most westerly outcrop of iron ore strata in the state.

In this same Huronian formation are situated some of the vast and renowned mines of northern Wisconsin and Michigan. The Penokee-Gogebic range is composed of rocks of this age. We may therefore confidently expect to find profitable deposits of ore in it in this state in many places where it is now unlooked for and unexpected.

This ore is more regular in its manner of deposition than that of the Keewatin. It is in beds interstratified with quartzite, all having a general dip in this state of perhaps fifteen degrees to the southeast. This quartzite is supposed to be the upper part of the Huronian and to lie unconformably on the slates beneath.

Next in order above the Huronian is found the Gabbro, which has been erupted from the interior of the earth and has flowed over on top of the Huronian strata, in some places entirely concealing them from sight and burying them under 200 or 300 feet of gray igneous rock, and in others, breaking up tions of the bureau of engraving and printing, the patent office, the interior of the executive mansion, the money vaults in the treasury department and other places which every tourist who comes to Washington visits. Some of these articles may be entirely original; most of them are original in part. The correspondent who has preserved several letters on the same subject can, when opportunity offers, combine the information they contain in an effective way and with a spice of contemporaneous fact added, can make a most palatable dish. The information which he appropriates is all to be obtained at first hand if he chooses to seek it; it is regarded as common property. He does no one an injustice in appropriating it, for even the newspaper reader who, perhaps, devoured another article on the same topic, a year ago with avidity, recognizes no familiar ingredient in the dish that is set before him today. The newspaper reader glances over his paper so hurriedly that what he sees there makes little permanent impression on him. Of course no correspondent can afford to become entirely a "scrap-book writer." He loses originality of expression and becomes dull and prosy. But every good letter writer in Washington depends more or less on his scrap collection. One of the best known writers of a few years ago used to say to T. C. Craven, the famous wall-known letter writer: "I keep all of your letters, and whenever I run short of reminiscences, I fall back on them."

SCHOOL HISTORY.

Trouble Between Catholics and Protestants Likely to Renewed.

Boston, Oct. 25.—The dispute between the Catholics and Protestants of Boston, which was last year carried into local politics and which brought out nearly 25,000 female voters, may be revived this fall.

The Boston committee of 100 some time since are interested in President Warren of the Boston university; Professor Shalton, the well-known historian; the Rev.

Dr. A. A. Miner, the Rev. Dr. E. E. Hale and the Rev. James M. Gray, asking them to make a careful examination of "Anderson's General History," now in use in the Boston public schools, and to report upon it. They report, first, that "This history is a partisan and Romanized production. Its author, in a letter published in the Boston Daily Advertiser, distinctly admits that the last edition was revised to meet the requirements of the Roman Catholic critics. They then quote at length passages from the book now in use, comparing them with the corresponding passages in the original work, as indicating the purpose of the author to remove language and matter objectionable to Catholics. They also find that this history omits all detailed reference to the United States, thus failing to set this country in its proper relations to other countries," and that the history "is inferior to others which might be obtained in literary style, accuracy, freshness of scholarship, breadth and vividness of outlook, etc."

Professor Sheldon in a separate report says that a better book than Anderson's ought to be in our schools, and President Warren of Boston university, agrees with this opinion.

HE WAS HANGED.

A South Dakota Sheriff Who Knows How It Seems.

New York Star. James E. Morgan, sheriff of Sherman county, South Dakota, is a native of this city, but has been in the West over thirty years. He is here on a visit to his relatives on Staten Island, and he finds New York has undergone a mighty change since he left it in 1861 to go to the front.

"I find," says the sheriff to me the other night, "that the question whether a man should be hanged or executed electrically has been settled. I am glad to find that electricity has carried the day, for I assure you that death by hanging is intensely painful."

"Why, sheriff," I said, "is it possible that you were hanged?"

"Quite so, and it was no joke. When the war closed I went West to seek my fortune, and had a pretty hard time before I found anything resembling it. One hard winter two others and myself went into Wyoming on a prospecting expedition, and had to maintain ourselves chiefly by hunting. Antelope were very scarce just then, and we suffered considerably from hunger. One morning we separated, the better to scour the country, agreeing to meet on a distant hill at noon. My companions were hardly out of sight when I shot a steer, and was in the act of cutting it up when three fierce looking cowboys swooped down upon me. I am, as you see, swarthy, and they took me for a Mexican. As they also were dirty looking I made the same mistake, and saluted them in the little Spanish I had picked up. It happened that a tall cotton tree was conveniently close, and, without saying a word, one of the men threw his lariat around my neck, tossed the other end of the rope over a stone limb, his two companions pulled upon it, and I was in the twinkling of an eye going through all the agonies of hanging. The pain was frightful. There was a tremendous rushing through my ears, the sky and everything else turned blood red, pins and needles seemed to be sticking into every part of my body, and at the same time the back of my head felt as if it were being smothered at the rate of forty strokes a second. How long it lasted I couldn't tell. To me it seemed hours. When I regained consciousness one of my friends was pouring whisky down my throat and the other was rubbing my chest with the same liquid. It appears that my comrades waited a long time to cut me down before life had fled, but just then I wished they had let me be. The process of resuscitation was, if possible, still more agonizing than the hanging; but, as the man condemned by law does not suffer in that regard, there is no use in dwelling upon it."

"But why did they hang you?"

"They were driving a herd of cattle to Idaho, and it was one of their steers that I had shot. When my friends arrived and explained, the cowboys cut me down, and when I was ready to receive them they were profuse in their apologies."

"That is how I know that hanging is one of the most cruel deaths to which you can put a man."
